There is nothing quite like the phenomenon known as college football. That's especially true in Chapel Hill. Football Saturdays are a very special part of autumn life in our town and at our university.

The celebration of a Football Saturday actually begins on Friday. Some townspeople gather in elegant homes for private dinner parties. Others enjoy one of the town's fine restaurants. Students do the same and then finish the evening at a bistro or fraternity house.

Alumni spend Saturday morning revisiting favorite spots on the beautiful old campus. By noon, every parking lot is filled with fans enjoying tailgate picnic lunches. Then come the big games themselves in Kenan Stadium. And afterward, the entire town turns into one huge party.

These post-game affairs have been particularly happy ones since Bill Dooley came to town 11 years ago. Under his direction the Tar Heels have reached new heights on the football field. Interest is at an all-time high as Dooley and his men in Carolina Blue head into a new season. We have an idea the best is yet to come and we invite you to be a part of it.

Press/Radio/TV

Carolina's football Tar Heels have one of the largest press followings in the nation and interest is growing greater every year.

All the daily papers in North Carolina, and many from surrounding states, cover the Tar Heel games in Kenan Stadium. Each Tuesday during the season, many of the newsmen attend a press conference at the Pines Restaurant which features Coach Bill Dooley. Starting time is 12 noon.

Working press credentials for Carolina home games can be obtained by contacting Rick Brewer in the Sports Information Office. Requests are screened with care to insure a working pressbox. Children, spouses and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

There are no Western Union facilities in the pressbox. The Athletic Department does furnish a number of telephones for writers to use in moving their copy. The Carolina Sports Information Office has one telecopier which will be available for sending copy. An operator's fee of $10 per game will be charged for its use. This fee will cover the cost of a student assistant staying late to send copy.

It is strongly suggested, however, that if at all possible, newsmen covering games in Kenan Stadium bring their own telecopier. This will allow all copy to be moved more quickly and will alleviate any deadline problems.

Over 60 stations in three states will once again carry the Tar Heel Football Network. The Network is operated by Village Broadcasting of Chapel Hill with Jim Heavner as the producer. Woody Durham, the popular sportscaster at WFMY-TV in Greensboro, will handle the play-by-play with former Tar Heel All-America Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice doing the color commentary.

For the eleventh consecutive year the Bill Dooley Show will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday. Durham serves as emcee on this program.

Ferebee Taylor/Chancellor

The number one man on the Carolina campus—Chancellor N. Ferebee Taylor—is also the number one fan of the football Tar Heels.

Win, lose or draw, Chancellor Taylor moves from his position high in the stands to become the first visitor to the Tar Heel dressing room after every game. He chats individually with the players, congratulating them on their performances.

Being chancellor of one of America's great universities is a busy and often frantic job. Yet Chancellor Taylor finds time to attend most of the major sports events on campus. He also tries to come to as many football practice sessions as his schedule will allow.

"Chancellor Taylor is a firm believer in intercollegiate athletics," says Tar Heel Coach Bill Dooley. "He has given great support to our program. He knows the game well and respects the young men who play it for Carolina."

The Chancellor feels that the Athletic Department is an important part of the total University and expresses a hope that all students will make use of what it offers, either as participants or as spectators.

"At the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, we will continue to strive for excellence in our Athletic Department as we will in all other departments," says the Chancellor.

Chancellor Taylor is a graduate of Carolina, receiving an A.B. in American History in 1942. He was the first Jackson Scholar here (this scholarship was the first four-year grant) and he served as president of Phi Beta Kappa, making straight A's for three consecutive years.

He was president of the University Club, speaker of the Student Legislature and a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Grail.

The Chancellor served in the Navy during World War II and reached the rank of lieutenant. After being released from active duty, he entered the Harvard Law School and received the LL.B. cum laude in 1949.

He then enrolled in Balliol College at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar, receiving his B.A. in philosophy, politics and economics in 1951. He received his M.A. from Oxford in 1955.

Chancellor Taylor then practiced law in New York City until returning to Carolina in the spring of 1968 as a visiting professor at the UNC Law School.

He was named administrative vice-president of the Consolidated University in 1970 and served in that position until being unanimously selected by the Board of Trustees as the new Chancellor. He replaced J. Carlyle Sitterson.

In his administrative job with the Consolidated University, the Chancellor had served as a legal advisor and had acted as a liaison between the Board of Trustees and its committees.

Since assuming his present position, Chancellor Taylor has placed special emphasis on the public service aspect of the University. Many short courses, workshops and special projects have been organized, serving the entire state of North Carolina and its five-and-a-half-million people, as well as the students and residents of the University community.

Chancellor Taylor is married to the former Louise C. Ellington. They have three daughters—Louise, Sarah, and Martha.

Bill Cobey/Athletic Director

The director of athletics at the University of North Carolina is Bill Cobey, one of the most respected young administrators in collegiate sports.

Cobey is beginning his second full year as Tar Heel athletic director. He assumed the position in January of 1976 after Homer Rice resigned to become the athletic director and head football coach at Rice University.

The man who heads Carolina's 25-sport athletic program is a regular spectator at most Tar Heel sports events. It makes no difference whether the sport is football, field hockey or soccer; if the Tar Heels are playing, Cobey is usually on the scene.

The fact that he is a fan of all Carolina teams is certainly one of the big reasons his selection as athletic director was hailed by all members of the Tar Heel Athletic Department.

It was only after consulting with over 40 people connected with the Carolina athletic program that Chancellor Ferebee Taylor appointed Cobey to head the department.

"There was a clear consensus that Bill Cobey would make an outstanding director of athletics," says the Chancellor. "That consensus has certainly proven correct. He has done a great job of directing our athletic program."

Before taking the Carolina job, Cobey had been interviewed by other schools for high athletic positions. He says it has long been an ambition of his to be an athletic director at a major university.

Cobey's interest in sports came quite naturally. His father was Sunny Jim Tatum's assistant athletic director at the University of Maryland. When Tatum left College Park to become the head football coach at Carolina in 1956, Cobey's father was named his successor.

Even today Cobey gives his father and Tatum credit for what he has accomplished in athletics. He also says Rice was a tremendous influence on him.

Like Rice, Cobey tries to stay out of the spotlight while getting his job done.

"The attention should go to our athletes and coaches," he says. "Administrators don't need to get any fanfare.

"Our goal is to carry on the great tradition Carolina has had in intercollegiate athletics. We will always work towards maintaining a strong, overall program."

Cobey, 37, is only the fourth man to head the Carolina Athletic Department.

The late Bob Fetzer was Carolina's first athletic director, serving from 1922 until 1951. He was followed by Charles P. (Chuck) Erickson who held the post until his retirement in May, 1968. Rice succeeded Erickson the following January.

Cobey is currently in his tenth year of work at the University. He had held three different and important posts before becoming athletic director.

He came to Chapel Hill in 1968 as the academic counselor for Bill Dooley's football team. In that position he advised Tar Heel players on their academic work, served as a counselor for them in any personal problems they might have had and also was Dooley's administrative assistant.

In 1971 Cobey became assistant athletic director for operations. He was directly responsible for the running of Kenan Stadium and Carmichael Auditorium on the days of football and basketball games. He also worked closely with Athletic Business Manager Vernon Crook in matters dealing with finance.

Cobey then served as assistant athletic director for promotions and finance. In that role he was Rice's chief assistant.

Cobey is a 1962 graduate of Emory University in Atlanta. He received a masters degree in business from the University of Pennsylvania. After a brief time of working with the Dow

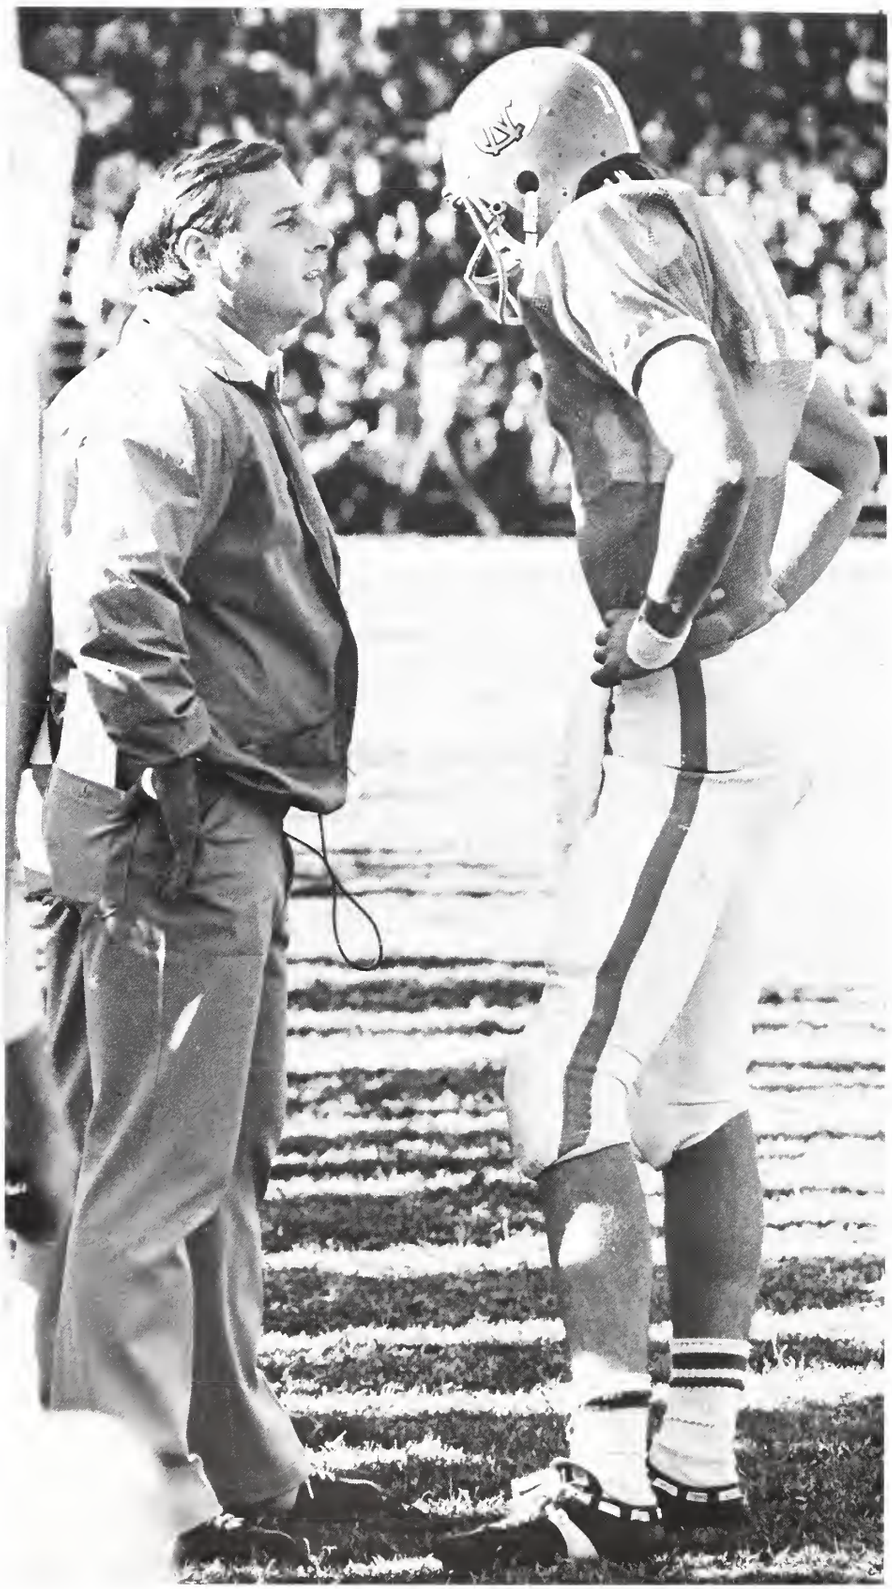
Chemical Company, Cobey returned to school at the University of Pittsburgh and earned a masters degree in education.

During his time at Pittsburgh, Cobey took part in a graduate teaching internship program there. He was a member of the football staff at West Mifflin North High School and taught physical education in the public schools.

Since coming to Chapel Hill Cobey has been very active in community affairs. He is a past president of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro YMCA and played a key role in the drive to construct a YMCA building here. He is also a former assistant campaign chairman of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro United Fund. Bill is a member of the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club.

Cobey is married to the former Nancy Sullivan of College Park, Md. They have two children, Cathy (11) and Billy (five). The Cobeys are members of the University United Methodist Church.

Bill Dooley



The head football coach at the University of North Carolina is Bill Dooley, who has taken more Atlantic Coast Conference teams to bowl games than any man in league history.

Dooley, now beginning his 11th year at the Tar Heel helm, has guided Carolina to its greatest heights in football and, in the process, has made the ACC a much more competitive football conference.

In the 10 years before Dooley came to Chapel Hill, ACC teams had been to only six bowl games. In Dooley's 10 years at Carolina, the conference has had 15 teams in post-season play.

Dooley has coached a third of those teams himself. Carolina's post-season appearances came in the 1971 Gator Bowl, the Peach Bowl in 1970 and 1976 and the Sun Bowl in 1972 and 1974.

In 10 years at Carolina, Dooley has compiled an overall record of 61-50-1. He has won more games than any coach in Tar Heel history.

Although his 1972 team had an 11-1 record, the school's best ever, many observers feel Dooley's finest coaching job may have come last seaon.

The Tar Heels, who suffered a disappointing 3-7-1 record in 1975, were picked to finish anywhere from fourth to sixth in pre-season forecasts of the ACC race. After an unbelievable number of injuries cut down some of Carolina's top players, those predictions of a low conference finish unfortunately appeared to look good.

However, Bill Dooley is a man who loves a challenge. He rallied his players around him and they responded with a 9-2 record and a second-place finish to Maryland in the league standings. That earned the Tar Heels a berth in Atlanta's Peach Bowl.

The increase of six victories from 1975 to 1976 marked the greatest regular-season turnaround in ACC history.

But, turning things around is nothing new to Bill Dooley. He did just that when he took over the Tar Heel program in 1967. Carolina had been to only one bowl game in the 17 years prior to Dooley's arrival on campus and had experienced just one winning season in eight years.

Head Coach

Caught with slim material in his first two seasons, his teams won only five games. Then came a 5-5 break-even fall in 1969 and Dooley's program was on its way. Since then, except for off-seasons in 1973 and 1975, Dooley has had his teams nationally-ranked and/or in bowl games every year.

While Dooley was lifting Carolina back to the national football prominence it enjoyed in the 1940's, the entire ACC was also getting better and better. The reason was very simple—Dooley was winning with such regularity that other schools had to put more into their programs just to keep up with the Tar Heels.

Perhaps former Virginia Coach Don Lawrence summed it up best when he said: "The entire Atlantic Coast Conference is tougher now than it has ever been. I hate to admit it, but Bill Dooley is responsible for it all. He came into this league and worked around the clock to build a fine program. Now everybody else has started working overtime to catch up. Dooley turned ACC football around."

Since Dooley has had four classes of his own players at Carolina, his teams have won 51, lost 30 and tied one. That's a percentage of .628.

His success here has been shared by people around him. Three of his former aides—Lee Hayley, Clyde Walker and Bill Cobey—have gone on to jobs as athletic directors. Hayley is at Auburn, Walker at Kansas and Cobey here at Carolina. Two former staff members, Bobby Collins and Bud Moore, are now head coaches at Southern Mississippi and Kansas.

Three of Dooley's players have been consensus All-Americas—tailback Don McCauley in 1970, guard Ron Rusnak in 1972 and guard Ken Huff in 1974. No other coach in the history of the conference has had that many consensus All-Americas.

Since 1970 Carolina has had more All-ACC players than any other school in the league. Since Dooley came to Chapel Hill, Carolina has produced the ACC Player of the Year four times. No other coach has ever had that many.

Although football has been played in Chapel Hill since 1888, the Tar Heel record book is dominated by Dooley's players. Five of the top ten all-time total offense leaders have played for Dooley as have six of the top ten leading rushers and six of the top ten scorers.

Dooley and Oklahoma assistants diagram a play at Dooley's annual coaching clinic.

Five of Dooley's quarterbacks rank in the top eight in touchdown passes and four of the top seven percentage passers played for him as well. He has also coached six of Carolina's top ten all-time pass receivers.

Dooley admits that being a head coach deprives him of the biggest fun in coaching.

"What I miss most is getting on my hands and knees and giving individual instruction to the players," he says. "A head coach is busy directing the overall program and has to leave that to the assistants. I miss it because I always liked to get in the trenches with the men."

Dooley played in the trenches himself when he attended Mississippi State in the 1950's. He was an all-star guard at State and was the outstanding lineman in the Shrine Bowl his senior season.

Following graduation, Dooley went into the coaching field. He coached first as an assistant at Mississippi State, serving as line coach for two years and head freshman coach for three seasons. During his three years as coach of freshmen, Dooley's teams never lost to Ole Miss, the biggest rival.

That success in big rivalries has followed Dooley to Carolina. He has the best record of any coach in Tar Heel history against arch-rival Duke, 7-2-1.

Dooley left Mississippi State for George Washington in1961. He stayed there for two seasons and then returned to his alma mater in 1963, where as offensive line coach, he helped guide the Maroons into the Liberty Bowl.

When Vince Dooley was named the head coach at Georgia in 1964, his first act was to name Bill, his brother, as head of the offense. Vince and Bill had been extremely close while growing up in Mobile, Ala., and although their college and coaching careers had taken them on different paths, it was almost inevitable that they would wind up together.

The two brothers restored Georgia to football prominence. The Bulldogs went to bowl games two of the three years Bill was on the staff, compiling a record of 22-9-1.

Dooley learned his lessons well in the Southeastern Conference because he has been beating teams from that league with regularity since coming to Carolina. In 14 games Carolina has beaten SEC foes nine times. Three of those losses were in bowl games—to Georgia in the 1971 Gator Bowl, to Mississippi State in the 1974 Sun Bowl and to Kentucky in the 1976 Peach Bowl. That game with Georgia marked a first in football history—brothers opposing each other as coaches in bowl competition.

Dooley believes in hard-nose football and will tell you, "As a team, you're nothing if you can't run the football on an opponent. You've got to be able to knock people down and run over them. It's a game for men. You've got to out-tough people to beat them."

While Dooley's football philosophy hinges on mental and physical toughness, you would never be able to tell that if you met him off the field. He's an extremely likeable young man who mixes well with people from all walks of life. Some of his closest friends are Carolina professors and administrators; he's a tremendous hit with Tar Heel fans; and he's honest and straight-forward in his dealings with students, whether they be his players or members of a fraternity where he is speaking.

"One of the greatest things about coaching here is the sensational and enthusiastic support we get from our fans, alumni, faculty members and students," says Dooley. "That makes the coaching staff work even harder to field a competitive football team of which our university can be proud."

Dooley is in constant demand as a speaker and he lectures at clinics across the country. His summer camp for youngsters on the Carolina campus is a tremendous success.

Somehow, Dooley also finds time to get involved with community and state projects. He has been honorary chairman of the state's Special Olympics and has a special interest in the Heart Fund.

When he's not working (and that's not often), Dooley likes to spend time with his two sons, Jim and Billy. He also enjoys playing tennis and fishing.

However, football is his game and he has the records to prove it.

What Dooley Says About:

SPRING PRACTICE

"We accomplished a great deal during the spring. However, we still have a lot of question marks. We've got to find replacements for four outstanding offensive linemen. We were hampered in that area during the spring by injuries to some key young players. We just didn't get a chance to see them in action. Thus, it's very hard to evaluate how much help they're going to be this fall. We also did not get to work with Bernie Menapace very much at free safety because of his participation in baseball and an injury."

DEE HARDISON

"Dee did a heckuva job for us last season and we're expecting even better things from him this year. I honestly did not see a better defensive lineman in the ACC last year. Dee has always had great natural talent. But last year he played with confidence for the first time and that turned him from a good player into a great one. I think both Dee and Tom Harper deserve a lot of credit for his play last year. Coach Harper helped him develop his confidence and then Dee worked as hard as anyone on our team to become an outstanding player. I consider him an All-America candidate and if he continues to improve, he should make some of the post-season teams."

THE TAILBACK SITUATION

"Going into the fall we have not made a choice about who our number one tailback is going to be. We think we have the people capable of doing the job there, but the starting spot won't be determined until the fall. I guess this is really the first time in my Carolina coaching career that we've gone into the fall with this position so up in the air.

"We think Doug Paschal, Terence Burrell and Phil Farris all have good potential. In addition to those players, we also experimented with Delbert Powell and Mel Collins at tailback during the spring.

"Certainly, we're going to need more than one tailback. I'm not sure how we will play them, however. That will be determined by who does what in the pre-season work. We have not ruled out the possibility of alternating our tailbacks on every play as we did in 1974."

THE 1977 SEASON

"I'm optimistic about the season. But, I always am. Heck, if the head coach isn't optimistic, how can anybody else be?

"Seriously, I do think we can have a good football team. However, much of our success is going to depend on the type of leadership we get from our seniors and the amount of immediate help we get from some of our younger players.

"The importance of leadership was demonstrated well last season when we faced a lot of adversity in the form of injuries. Our seniors never let our younger players get down, however, and we went on to win nine games.

"Our strengths should be our defensive line and our offensive players at the skilled positions. But, those offensive players are going to need someone to block for them and we need somebody to play behind the defensive line. Generally, I think we have good front-line players in the offensive line and in the defensive secondary, but we do not have many experienced reserves at either spot."

MIKE SALZANO

"If Mike had not been injured last year, I think he would be on many of the pre-season All-America teams this fall. He has the potential to be one of the finest offensive linemen we've had at Carolina. He's very intelligent and a hard worker. He may have the quickest feet of any lineman we've had here. If he has the kind of year we think he is going to have this fall, Mike should be an All-America in his senior season."

THE FRESHMEN

"With the new 95 rule, freshmen are going to be playing more and more. I think we had a good recruiting year and have several players capable of giving us immediate help. Our problem is we need the most help in the defensive backfield and the offensive line and those are the two toughest places for a freshman to play right off the bat."

BERNIE MENAPACE

"Bernie Menapace, quite simply, is a winner. I'm still amazed at the tremendous job he did for us last year at quarterback. He led us to four straight victories, including two over nationally-ranked teams. He gave us good leadership and poise at quarterback until Matt Kupec had gotten his feet wet and was ready to play.

"We've moved Bernie to free safety because we need him in the lineup somewhere. He is that good an athlete. We've lost a great player at free safety in Ronny Johnson, but we think we are going to replace him with another great one in Bernie. He's going to be behind when fall practice starts because he missed so much of the spring work, but I think he's going to do a fine job for us."

Prospectus

If North Carolina can rebuild its offensive line and find a replacement for tailback Mike Voight, the Tar Heels could again field one of the best football teams in the South this fall.

Coach Bill Dooley's squad posted a 9-2 record last year and earned a spot opposite Kentucky in the Peach Bowl. It was the fifth bowl appearance in the last seven years for Carolina.

However, many of the key players on that team have been lost to graduation. They include three defensive starters, four outstanding offensive linemen and Voight, who was twice selected the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year.

Still, Carolina has a solid nucleus of returning players. That includes 15 players who were starters near the end of the 1976 season.

The Carolina defense, which played exceptionally well last fall, returns eight starters. However, the missing players are all key ones—All-ACC end Bill Perdue, All-ACC free safety Ronny Johnson and Russ Conley, a four-year starter at cornerback.

Heading the list of defensive returnees are tackle Dee Hardison and end Ken Sheets. They rank as two of the best players in college football and should contend for All-America honors.

Hardison is a 255-pound senior who was an all-conference selection last year. He combines great strength with tremendous quickness. Sheets is a 225-pound junior who had a sensational sophomore season. He has excellent athletic ability and a flair for making the big play. The professional scouts are very high on both these men.

They will anchor a defensive line which has the potential to be an outstanding one. Junior Bunn Rhames, a 241-pound tackle, and junior Dave Simmons, a 6-4, 206-pound nose guard, broke into the lineup midway through the 1976 season and played well.

Senior Stan Lancaster, who has played a great deal on the specialty teams, and junior T. K. McDaniels, who was switched from tackle, will battle for the other end position.

Another key player in the line could be senior tackle Rod Broadway. Broadway missed all of the 1976 season with a leg injury. He was one of Carolina's top all-star candidates before being sidelined.

Five players—Buddy Curry, Ronnie Dowdy, Mike Finn, Bobby Gay and Larry Tedder—figure to split time at linebacker. Curry, just a sophomore, broke into the starting lineup as a freshman and played very well. Gay, who started as a freshman four years ago, was bothered by a knee injury last season. He had a fine spring, however, and could be one of the better linebackers in the ACC. Finn and Dowdy have good talent, while Tedder has been shifted to the defense from tailback.

Strong safety Alan Caldwell, one of Carolina's top all-star candidates, and cornerback Bobby Cale are the only returning starters in the secondary. Caldwell is a hard hitter who has a nose for the football. Cale led the ACC in interceptions last fall with five.

Sophomore Ricky Barden, who played on the specialty teams last year, has the inside track at the other cornerback. The best bet to replace Johnson at free safety is converted quarterback Bernie Menapace. Menapace has good athletic ability, but lacks experience at what might be the most important position in the entire defense. Another problem in the secondary is a lack of experienced depth.

Although Voight, who finished his career as the fifth-leading ground-gainer in collegiate history, is gone, the offensive backfield still has the potential to be an explosive one. It is in the line where the Tar Heels face the biggest rebuilding job.

Gone are All-ACC guard Craig Funk, center Mark Cantrell and tackles Mark Griffin and Tom Burkett. The latter three were all selected in the pro football draft. If Carolina is to be successful this season, replacements must be found for these linemen.

The returning starters in the interior line are guard John Rushing and tackle Bobby Hukill. They moved into starting jobs last year after injuries cut down Burkett and Mike Salzano. Salzano is completely healthy now and might be the best offensive lineman in the ACC.

Steve Junkmann, who was red-shirted last year as a defensive tackle, has been moved to the offense and will join Hukill at tackle. He has good potential, but no experience. The center should be Scott Davison, Cantrell's backup for the last two years. While the frontline players in the line appear to be solid, depth is a major problem here.

Flanking the linemen will be all-star candidate Brooks Williams at tight end and split end Walker Lee. Williams is a solid blocker and excellent receiver and Lee has the speed and hands to make the big play.

The backfield is set at three spots with wingback Mel Collins, one of the ACC's premier players; quarterback Matt Kupec, who guided Carolina to a 5-1 record after winning the starting spot last season; and 250-pound fullback Billy Johnson, a sophomore who could contend for all-star honors in his second season. There are also some capable reserves in quarterback P. J. Gay, fullback Bob Loomis and wingbacks Billy Mabry and Wayne Tucker.

Of all those players, Collins may be the most dynamic. Although hampered by injuries last fall, he still averaged 11.0 yards per carry, 13.2 yards per pass reception and 10.7 yards per punt return.

Four sophomores—Doug Paschal, Terence Burrell, Phil Farris and Delbert Powell—will battle for Voight's old tailback spot in the pre-season drills. All are talented, but lack experience.

One of the keys to the Tar Heels' success last year was the kicking game. Carolina allowed its opponents only 3.9 yards per punt return and 15.8 yards per kickoff return.

Tom Biddle, who had a school-record 13 field goals last season, is an outstanding place-kicker, while Johnny Elam gives Carolina a dependable punter.

Goal Line Analysis

OFFENSE

ENDS

Carolina should get excellent play from its starting offensive ends this season. Brooks Williams is an All-Atlantic Coast Conference candidate at tight end and Walker Lee is capable of being a big-play man at split end. Williams has tremendous hands and has improved steadily throughout his career as a blocker. The Tar Heel coaches rate him as one of the best players in America at his position. Depth at tight end is a problem, however. All of the backups lack experience. Lee is a game-breaking player at split end. He has excellent speed and fine hands. He is also a good downfield blocker. Jim Rouse gives Carolina a solid number two man at this spot. He is a good receiver and excellent blocker. Delbert Powell, who was shifted from split end to tailback in the spring, could also see action at his old position in certain situations.

INTERIOR LINE

This is one of the major question marks on the Carolina team. Missing from last year's line are three players who were chosen in the pro football draft and another who was an All-ACC selection. The best player in the line should be guard Mike Salzano. He is one of the top blockers in the ACC. He will be paired at guard with John Rushing. Rushing started last season after an injury sidelined Salzano. Another returning starter is tackle Bobby Hukill. He moved into a starting spot after Tom Burkett was injured in the third game of the year. He has the potential to be an outstanding player. The other tackle will be Steve Junkmann. Junkmann sat out last season with an injury after playing defensive tackle as a freshman. He was shifted to the offense in the spring and shows great promise. The starting center should be Scott Davison, Mark Cantrell's backup for the last two seasons. While the frontline players in the line have the potential to be solid players, depth is a problem. None of the reserves have played more than a snap or two in a varsity game. The top backups, going into the fall, are tackles Carl Hackley, Kevin Nolan and Hannon Fry; guards Ron Fowler, Chuck Valley, Steve Briggs and Gary Weaver; and centers Phil Ragazzo and Larry Leonard.

BACKS

The return of three starters gives Carolina the nucleus for an outstanding backfield. Of course, the one loss is a key one—tailback Mike Voight, twice the ACC Player of the Year and the leading ground-gainer in conference history. Four sophomores are battling for his starting berth—Doug Paschal, Terence Burrell, Phil Farris and Delbert Powell. All have good talent, but lack experience. Only Paschal has ever played the position in a varsity game and he only had nine carries last year in the regular season. The rest of the backfield, however, is set with three of the top players in America. Mel Collins is a big-play man at wingback. He averaged 11.0 yards per carry last season although he was hampered much of the time by a bad ankle. He is an excellent receiver and a dangerous punt-return specialist. He is ably backed up by senior Billy Mabry and sophomore Wayne Tucker, another explosive young player. Matt Kupec gives the Tar Heels one of the best sophomore quarterbacks in the country. He is an outstanding passer and good ball-handler. He has the potential to be one of the best quarterbacks ever to play in the ACC. Sophomore P. J. Gay is potentially just as good, while junior Clyde Christensen showed promise in the spring. Billy Johnson, quite simply, is a future All-America at fullback. The 250-pound sophomore is a bruising runner and an improving blocker. Junior Bob Loomis is an experienced number two man.

DEFENSE

THE LINE

This is potentially one of Carolina's greatest strengths. The ends are mobile, the tackles are quick and strong and the nose guard is faster than many backs. Ken Sheets, an All-America candidate, is set at left end. He is an explosive player with strength, speed and agility. With Bill Perdue, an All-ACC selection, gone from the other end, that spot will go to either Stan Lancaster or T. K. McDaniels. Lancaster is a senior who has played a great deal in a reserve role and on the specialty teams. McDaniels was switched from tackle in the spring and shows great promise. Dee Hardison, Carolina's other top All-America candidate, is set at left tackle. He developed into one of the best players in the ACC last year and should be headed for a sensational senior season. He has all the qualities a tackle needs—strength, speed, quickness, aggressiveness and a great attitude. The other tackle will be Bunn Rhames, who won a starting spot midway through the 1976 season. He also has great strength. Rod Broadway, who missed all of last season with an injury, also figures prominently into the tackle picture. He was a top all-star candidate before being injured. If he returns to his old form, it will be a great boost to the defense. Dave Simmons gives Carolina solid play at nose guard. He may be the fastest nose guard in the country with his 4.6 speed. His speed and quickness make him capable of coming up with a big play on every down. Bob Duncan, one of the surprises of the spring work, should be a capable backup.

LINEBACKERS

Five players—Buddy Curry, Bobby Gay, Mike Finn, Ronnie Dowdy and Larry Tedder—should split time at Carolina's two linebacker slots. Of that group, only Tedder is new to the position. He was shifted from tailback in the spring to give the Tar Heels more mobility on defense. He's a good athlete and a hard hitter. However, he will be playing behind one of the team's finest young stars in Curry. Buddy broke into the lineup last year as a freshman and played exceptionally well. He has the ability to be another in a long line of outstanding Tar Heel linebackers. Gay, Finn and Dowdy should share the other spot. All have played a great deal in the past and have good potential. Two other young prospects, who lack experience right now, are sophomores Paul Davis and Steve Taylor.

THE SECONDARY

Gone are Russ Conley, a four-year starter at cornerback, and free safety Ronny Johnson, an all-conference selection last year and one of the best players in the ACC. The two returning starters are strong safety Alan Caldwell and cornerback Bobby Cale. Caldwell is a vicious tackler who always seems to be around the football. He is one of the Tar Heels' best all-star candidates. Cale had a good sophomore season last fall, leading the ACC in interceptions with five. Sophomore Ricky Barden will probably start at Conley's old spot, although junior Francis Winters will also play a lot there. Barden is a smart young player who saw action on the specialty teams last season. Bernie Menapace, a quarterback last year, should be the free safety. Bernie is an outstanding athlete, but lacks experience. His play will be a key to Carolina's defensive success. The major problem in the seconday, however, is depth. Other than Winters, none of the backups have ever been in a varsity game.

THE KICKING GAME

One of the major reasons Carolina won nine games last year was the great play of its specialty teams. The Tar Heels allowed their opponents only 3.9 yards per punt return and only 15.8 yards per kickoff return. Carolina, meanwhile, returned punts 9.2 yards and kickoffs 21.1 yards. There are some excellent returning starters on the kicking units, led by Tom Biddle, Johnny Elam, Delbert Powell and Mel Collins. Biddle kicked a school-record 13 field goals a year ago. His kickoffs were so deep that Carolina was able to get good coverage of them. Although Elam's 38.2 yard punting average wasn't tremendous, his kicks were so high that the Tar Heels usually got excellent coverage of them. Powell made the All-ACC team as a return specialist, averaging 24.2 yards per kickoff return and 8.2 yards per punt return. He was the only player in the league to return a kick for a touchdown. Collins averaged 10.7 yards per punt return. Other returning players who made major contributions on the specialty teams are Larry Tedder, Stan Lancaster, Billy Mabry, Wayne Tucker, Ricky Barden, Francis Winters, Doug Paschal, Buddy Curry and Ken Mack. Tedder, in fact, was named the top specialty team player. However, replacements must be found for Russ Conley, Kirt Wilson, Mike Corbin and John Daw if the specialty teams are to be as successful as they were a year ago.

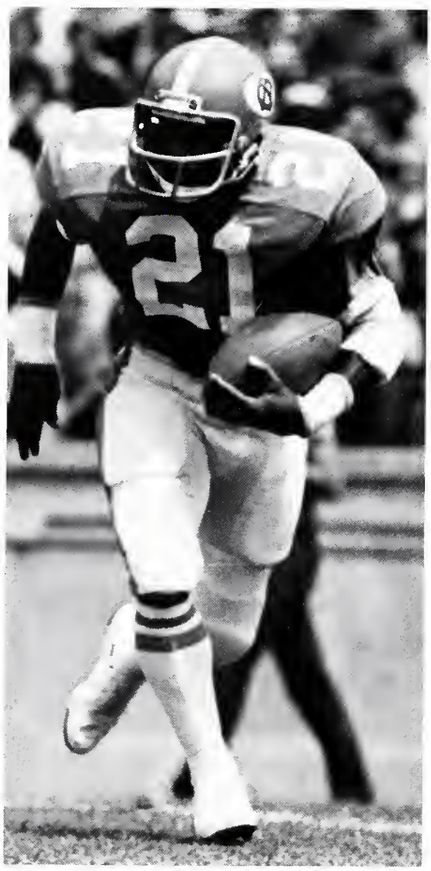
Noting The Ca

The North Carolina Tar Heels were involved in the three biggest plays of the Atlantic Coast Conference season last fall. Carolina players had the longest run from scrimmage, the longest kickoff return and the longest punt return in the league.

Mike Voight had an 84-yard scoring run against Clemson, the longest of any ACC player. That was also the longest run by a Tar Heel from the line of scrimmage in the modern era. Charlie Justice's longest scoring runs were 74 and 75 yards, Don McCauley's longest touchdown gallop was 80 yards. The all-time Carolina record is 95 yards by S. A. Ashe against Trinity in 1891.

Delbert Powell had a 98-yard kickoff return in Carolina's 34-14 victory at Wake Forest. In addition to being the longest play of the ACC season, it also set a new school record. The previously longest kickoff returns were 97 yards by Johnny Pecora versus Richmond in 1941 and by Don McCauley against Wake Forest in 1969.



Mel Collins' 75-yard punt return against Miami of Ohio was not a record, but it was the longest of the ACC season. Johnny Branch holds the Tar Heel record for longest punt return with a 96-yard effort against Maryland in 1930.

The last time:

Carolina returned a kickoff for a touchdown was Delbert Powell's 98-yard return at Wake Forest last season.

Carolina returned a punt for a touchdown was Mel Collins' 42-yard return at Wake Forest in 1974.

Carolina returned an interception for a touchdown was a 32-yard return by John Bunting against Maryland in 1971.

An opponent returned a kickoff for a touchdown was in 1971 when Coleman Dupree of Tulane had a 100-yard return in Kenan Stadium.

An opponent returned a punt for a touchdown was in 1975 when John Zeglinski of Wake Forest had a 45-yard return at Kenan Stadium.

An opponent returned an interception for a touchdown was in 1968 when Gary Williard of Wake Forest had a 58-yard return at Groves Stadium.

Carolina's defense forced 40 turnovers last season, recovering 23 fumbles and intercepting 17 passes. In the Bill Dooley coaching era, only the 1972 team, which went 11-1, had more in the regular season. The Tar Heels had 42 that year.

Only in 1914 (10-1) and in 1972 (11-1) did a Carolina team win more games than the Tar Heels won last season.

Carolina's home attendance last year was 270,000—an all-time record. The Tar Heels had four sellouts in Kenan Stadium, against N. C. State, East Carolina, Virginia and Duke.

Carolina has played 730 games against teams that are now classified as major colleges. That is the most of any school in the country. Georgia Tech is second with 677 major opponents, while Georgia is third with 670.

When Mike Voight was named the ACC Player of the Year last season, he became only the third player to win that award twice. The others were Roman Gabriel of N. C. State and Don McCauley of Carolina.

Bill Dooley, by the way, has now coached the ACC Player of the Year four times. No other coach in the league's history has produced that many players-of-the-year.

rolina Tar Heels

Mike Voight finished his Carolina career as the fifth leading rusher in college football history with 3,971 yards. The only players who have gained more are Tony Dorsett, Archie Griffin, Ed Marinaro and Joe Washington.

Voight set a Carolina school record and tied an ACC record by scoring 42 career touchdowns. He also joined Clemson's Buddy Gore and McCauley as the only players ever to lead the ACC in rushing twice.

Place-kicker Tom Biddle went on a spree in the last half of the 1976 season that saw him make nine of 11 field goals in Carolina's last five games. Biddle credited much of his success to the fact that he was using old footballs which he felt were more flexible and traveled farther.

Well, in the off-season the rules of the game were changed and using old footballs is no longer allowed.

But, Biddle isn't worried. He now plans to take a new football on Monday before each game and kick only with it during the week. He figures that will be plenty of time to get it broken in and to get used to it. In essence, Biddle will still have his own private football.

And, if for some reason an official won't let him kick with it, he says he's going to take his ball and go home.

After surveying the answers on a questionnaire given to the Carolina football players last spring, it's obvious the Tar Heels can agree on only two things—their favorite movie and favorite male movie star.

A total of 48 players returned their questionnaires. Of those responding, 19 said their favorite male film or TV star was Clint Eastwood. That made him an easy winner over John Wayne and Johnny Carson who had three votes each. Getting two votes each were Dustin Hoffman, Redd Foxx, Telly Savalas, Charles Bronson and Paul Newman.

Sixteen players agreed "Rocky" was the best movie they had seen. "Walking Tall" and "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest" were a distant second with three each.

The favorite female stars? Right. Farrah-Fawcett Majors with eight and Kate Jackson with five. Barbra Streisand had the support of three Tar Heels.

Strangely, the most wide-open race was for that of favorite athlete. A total of 42 different athletes received votes. The winner with three was Olympic decathalon champion Bruce Jenner. Dave Cowens, Muhammed Ali, Joe Namath, O. J. Simpson and Brian Oldfield each had two votes.

Among the other athletes mentioned were Bill Walton, Jackie Robinson, Arnold Palmer, Bill Toomey, Charles Waddell, John Kuester, Walter Davis, John Havlicek, Archie Griffin, Ilie Nastase, Tar Heel tailback Carey Casey and pro wrestler Ric Flair.

Carolina has played only one tie game in Bill Dooley's 10 years as head coach. Carolina and Duke battled to a 17-17 deadlock in the final game of the 1975 season.

In fact, the Tar Heels had played 204 consecutive games without a tie before that standoff. Carolina has thus had only one tie in its last 217 games.

The last time the Tar Heels shutout an opponent was last season when they blanked Northwestern, 12-0.

When Kentucky shutout Carolina in the Peach Bowl last December, it marked only the fourth time one of Bill Dooley's teams have been blanked in his 111 games here.

Band Day in Kenan Stadium this year will be in the home opener against Richmond. Homecoming will be observed in the last home game against Clemson.

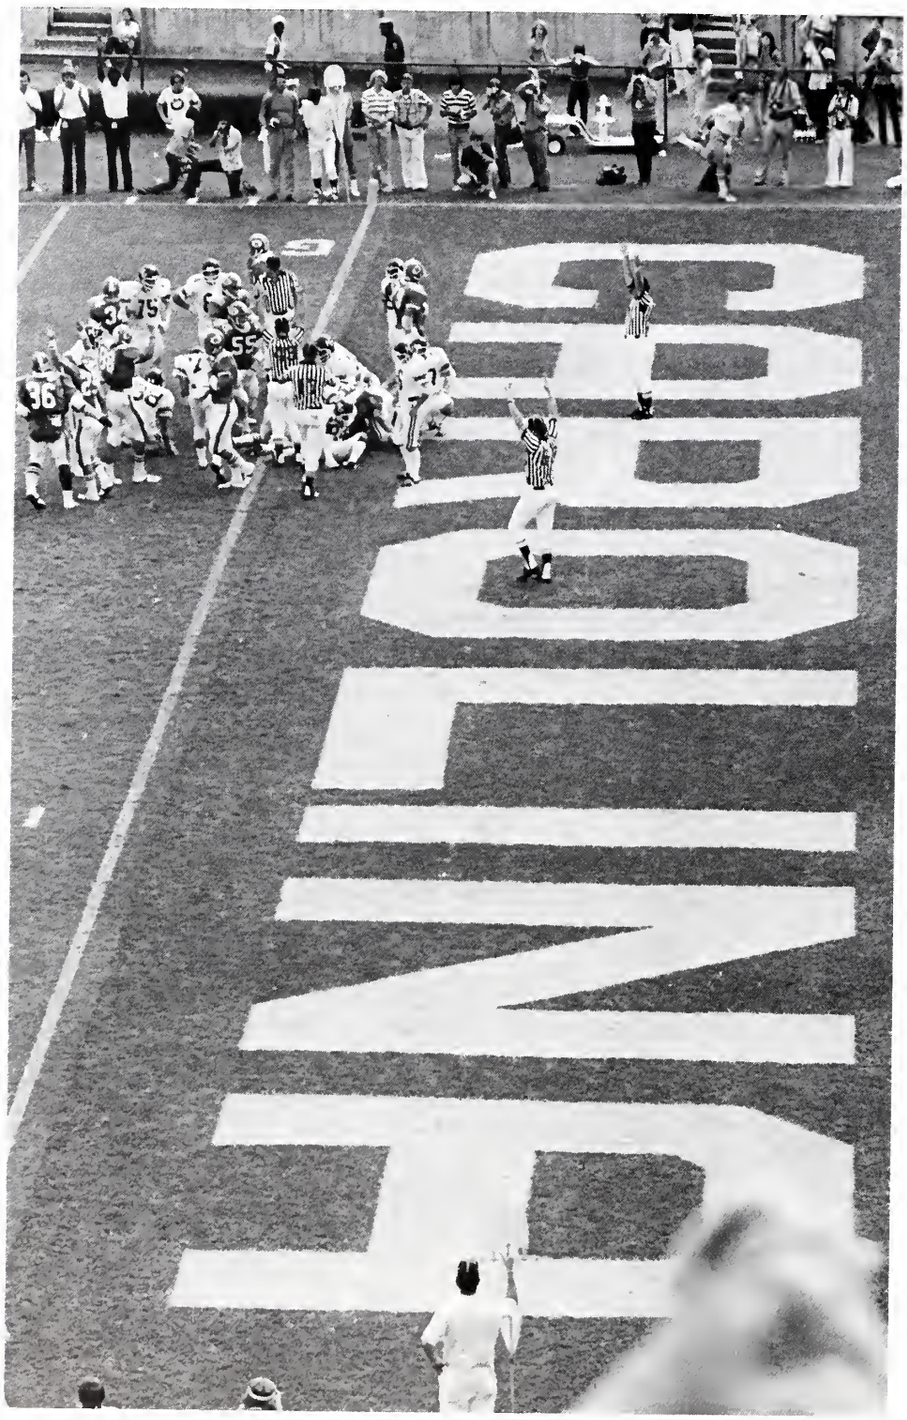
Kenan Stadium

Kenan Stadium is where the action is—the color, the motion and the pageantry of Carolina football.

It is here in this beautiful natural valley, nestled among tall pine trees, that the Tar Heels have played their games for 50 years.

Kenan Stadium is generally referred to as one of the most beautiful football arenas in the country. Some say it is THE most beautiful. Little can be done to enhance its natural beauty. In fact, most of the work on the stadium has been directed toward keeping up the natural setting.



William Rand Kenan, Jr. deserves the credit for making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and was an 1894 Carolina graduate. The late Mr. Kenan, who died in 1966, was an international industrialist. He discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry.

The stadium was constructed as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. It was dedicated Nov. 12, 1927 and Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, in the first game played there.

The stadium had a capacity of 24,000 that first season. However, in later years, Mr. Kenan added portable stands in the end zones and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, bringing the capacity to 48,000.

Seven years ago, standing-room tickets were sold for games with South Carolina and Duke and attendance reached an all-time high of 48,500. That record was broken in 1975 when 50,500 fans saw the Tar Heels play Notre Dame.

There were four sellouts at Kenan Stadium last year with standing-room only crowds for games against N. C. State and East Carolina.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, weight-training quarters, lounges, meeting rooms and other facilities.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

Five games are scheduled for Kenan Stadium this fall. The Tar Heels will battle traditional rivals Wake Forest and Clemson and outside foes South Carolina, Richmond and Texas Tech.

For these games, students, faculty, alumni and fans will converge on the stadium. They will enjoy football at its finest in a stadium that is magnificent.

This is Kenan Stadium and this is where the action is.

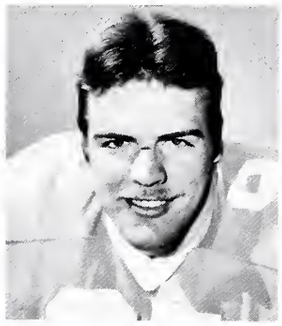
A key player in the Tar Heel kicking game . . . Handles all the deep snaps for punts and placements . . . Did a good job last season and will have that same duty this fall . . . His brother Deke was the deep snap specialist for the four years prior to the 1976 season . . . Could also provide depth at center . . . Transfer student from Tulane . . . Started his Tar Heel career as a tackle . . . Enjoys music.



MIKE ARGO 95
Defensive Tackle
6-2, 223, Sophomore
Alexandria, Va.

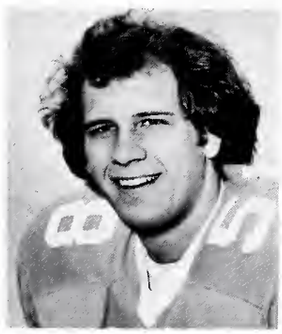
Finished the spring as Dee Hardison's backup at left tackle . . . A true sophomore who still has a lot to learn . . . Played strictly on the jayvee team last season . . . A gutty player who gives a good effort . . . Has put on weight since the end of spring practice . . . Will be used in reserve duty this fall.

11 RICKY BARDEN
Defensive Back
5-8, 168, Sophomore
Norfolk, Va.

One of Carolina's best young players . . . Will start at left cornerback this season . . . Does not have great size and that is his major problem . . . However, coaches doubt if there is a better 168-pound sophomore cornerback in the country . . . Was an outstanding member of Carolina's specialty teams last fall . . . Recovered a fumble on a bad snap in punting situation at Wake Forest . . . Also saw some action in defensive backfield . . . Had an interception in the Peach Bowl . . . A great competitor with good desire . . . Extremely quick . . . Played very well in the spring . . . Had an interception in Blue-White game . . . High school quarterback at Lake Taylor High . . . Played there with freshmen Amos Lawrence and Donald Lucas . . . Athlete he most admires is Otis Sistrunk.

TOM BIDDLE 91
Kicking Specialist
6-0, 179, Senior
Yorktown, Va.

One of the top place-kickers in college football . . . A conventional-style kicker, Tom was the leading kick-scorer in the ACC last year with 62 points . . . Finished fourth in the league overall in scoring . . . Averaged 5.6 points per game . . . Made 23 of 25 extra points and 13 of 18 field goals . . . His 13 field goals set a new Carolina single-season record, breaking the mark of 11 set by Ken Craven in 1971 . . . Tied Craven's school record of four field goals in a game with kicks of 42, 25, 32 and 27 yards at Wake Forest . . . His 17-yard field goal with only 2:17 to play lifted Carolina to its 12-10 win over East Carolina . . . Kicked a dramatic 40-yard field goal on the last play of the game to beat Tulane, 17-15, in the Superdome in 1975 . . . Biddle rates that as his biggest thrill in sports . . . Tom now has 103 career points, tying him for 13th place among Carolina's all-time leading scorers . . . His 19 career field goals is just short of Don Hartig's school record 21 . . . Also kicks off for the Tar Heels . . . His kickoffs went into the opponents' end zone 70 per cent of the time last season . . . Very dependable and consistent . . . Kicked nine field goals in Carolina's last five games in 1976 and credited some of his success to the use of old footballs which he said were more flexible . . . The 42-yarder against Wake Forest is the longest of his career . . . Athlete he most admires is Dusty Rhodes . . . Enjoys tennis and professional wrestling . . . One of the Tar Heels' top all-star candidates.



58 STEVE BRIGGS
Offensive Guard
6-4, 220 Sophomore
Fort Monroe, Va.

Played tight end on last year's junior varsity team . . . Switched to guard during the spring . . . Also did some work at center in the spring drills . . . Has exceptionally quick feet . . . Made a lot of progress in the spring . . . Lacks size and experience right now . . . If strength and size improve, he could provide much-needed backup help at guard . . . An outstanding young prospect.

ROD BROADWAY 70
Defensive Tackle
6-3, 249, Senior
Oakboro, N. C.

One of Carolina's top all-star candidates in 1976, Rod missed the entire season with a leg injury . . . Broadway injured a knee in pre-season practice . . . Underwent surgery and will be back this fall . . . If he can regain his old form, it would be a tremendous boost to the Carolina team . . . Rod took part in individual, one-on-one drills in the spring, but did not compete in any scrimmages . . . Although he would have started last season, Rod will start the new season behind Bunn Rhames at right tackle . . . Will have to win back his starting spot . . . Has the ability to do just that . . . May have the quickest feet of any of the defensive linemen . . . Has a good instinct for the football . . . A good pass rusher . . . Has all the capabilities to be a great defensive tackle . . . Started as both a sophomore and a junior after playing a great deal as a freshman . . . Played one of the greatest games of his career in 1974 win over N. C. State . . . All-state and All-America at West Stanley High . . . Selected as the Most Valuable Player in the Shrine Bowl as a high school senior . . . Enjoys fishing . . . Also likes to play tennis and basketball.

33 TERENCE BURRELL
Tailback
6-0, 226, Sophomore
Williamsburg, Va.

In contention for the starting tailback position . . . Leading rusher and scorer on the 1975 junior varsity team . . . Gained 430 yards on 80 carries for a 5.4 yards-per-carry average . . . Scored 34 points . . . Was redshirted last season . . . A big, bruising back . . . Excellent size . . . Has good speed for a player of his build . . . Tough to stop inside and also has good outside speed . . . Fine hands . . . Only tailback to go through the spring work without an injury . . . Has the potential to be an outstanding player . . . Enjoys music . . . Says the best book he's read is Helter Skelter.

ALAN CALDWELL 38
Defensive Back
5-11, 170, Senior
Winston-Salem, N. C.

A strong candidate for all-conference honors . . . Beginning his second year as a starter at strong safety . . . Played extremely well last season . . . Expected to improve even more this year . . . Has great quickness and is a hard hitter . . . Alan has a great attitude . . . One of the team's leaders . . . Coaches list his best assets as quickness, attitude and desire for the team to succeed . . . Played two of his best games last fall against Miami of Ohio and East Carolina . . . Also made one of the biggest plays in the Tar Heels' 34-32 win over Army . . . It was Alan's 33-yard interception return late in the fourth quarter that killed a Cadet scoring threat and set up Carolina's winning touchdown drive . . . Returned 19 kickoffs as a sophomore, averaging 20.0 yards per return . . . Had one 19-yard return last season . . . Played well in the spring . . . His interception in the Blue-White game set up the winning touchdown for the Whites in the closing moments . . . Athlete he most admires is Muhammed Ali . . . Favorite movie is Rocky . . . Has an assortment of nicknames, but is best known simply as A. C. . . . Coaches feel he will be one of the best defensive backs in the ACC this fall.

31 BOBBY CALE
Defensive Back
6-1, 174, Junior
Middletown, Del.

Started every game at right cornerback last season . . . Led the ACC in interceptions with five . . . Highlight of his season was a pair of interceptions against Northwestern . . . That performance earned him ACC Defensive Back of the Week honors . . . Also had interceptions against Missouri, Wake Forest and Virginia . . . Did a good job last year . . . Very steady player . . . Has good range and good height for a cornerback . . . Reads and diagnoses plays well . . . Started on occasion as a freshman . . . Has the ability to be one of the better players in the ACC this fall . . . Turned down a professional baseball contract to play football at Carolina . . . Named the outstanding senior at Middletown High in 1975 . . . All-state performer there in football, basketball and baseball . . . Likes music, especially soul and modern jazz . . . Athlete he most admired was Roberto Clemente . . . Biggest thrill in sports was playing in the Peach Bowl last season.

CAREY CASEY 24
Tailback
6-0, 194, Junior
Salem, Va.

An alternate starter with Mike Voight at tailback before being injured in the pre-season drills last fall . . . Underwent knee surgery for ligament damage . . . Carey is a question mark because of that operation . . . Did not take part in the spring work . . . However, if anybody can come back from the injury, it's Carey . . . A hard worker who has a great desire to succeed . . . Has good size and great speed . . . A breakaway threat . . . Came to Carolina from Northwest Oklahoma Junior College in the spring of 1976 . . . Voted the outstanding offensive player in the spring game that year . . . Has the natural ability to play several different positions for Carolina . . . Was married during the summer . . . Very active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

81 MIKE CHATHAM
Tight End
6-1, 194, Sophomore
Elkin, N. C.

A non-scholarship player who was a defensive back on the jayvee team . . . Switched to tight end in the spring . . . Made considerable progress . . . Hard worker who has good hands . . . Needs to gain weight . . . Also played on the jayvee basketball team last season . . . Enjoys duck hunting and fishing.

CLYDE CHRISTENSEN 10
Quarterback
5-9½, 170, Junior
Fresno, Calif.

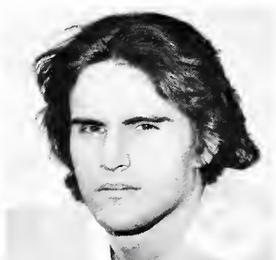
A transfer from Fresno City Junior College who was red-shirted last year . . . Has made great strides in learning the Carolina system . . . Now more used to the Tar Heel offense . . . Will provide good backup help this fall . . . Junior College All-America in a tough California league . . . One of the most respected members of the Carolina team . . . A leader on and off the field . . . A fierce competitor with a lot of athletic ability . . . Has a very live arm . . . Good quickness . . . Runs the option well . . . Played well in the spring . . . Threw the winning 43-yard touchdown pass to Wayne Tucker in the Blue-White game and also scored on a one-yard run . . . Gained 38 yards on nine carries in that game and completed five of seven passes for 144 yards . . . Excellent tennis player . . . Athlete he most admires is Bart Starr.

21 MEL COLLINS
Wingback
5-7½, 173, Senior
Fairfax, Va.

Probably the most under-rated player in the Atlantic Coast Conference . . . Does everything well . . . A top all-star candidate in his senior season . . . A two-year starter at wingback, Mel can also play tailback or split end . . . One of the most exciting players in the league when he gets his hands on the football . . . Mel is capable of going all the way anytime he touches it . . . A threat to score from anywhere on the field . . . Coaches rate him as one of the most versatile backs in Carolina history . . . Pound for pound, he may be the strongest player on the Tar Heel team . . . Has worked hard to become an outstanding blocker . . . However, it's catching the football and running with it at which he excels . . . Voted ACC Offensive Player of the Week for his performance against Miami last year . . . Had 243 yards in all-purpose running in that game . . . Scored on a 69-yard run on a "shoestring play" and also had a 75-yard punt return . . . That punt return was the longest of the ACC season . . . Mel led the league in punt returns with a 10.7 average . . . Also led the Tar Heels in receiving with 14 catches for 185 yards and one touchdown . . . Averaged 11.0 yards per carry on 14 runs from scrimmage . . . Collins accomplished all that despite being bothered by a bad ankle for over half the season . . . A great receiver who is usually double-teammed . . . As a sophomore, he had a 57-yard scoring reception against Virginia and a 39-yard TD catch against Notre Dame . . . Has 35 career receptions for 517 yards, a 14.8 yards-per-catch average . . . Played tailback as a freshman in 1974 before moving to wingback the following year . . . Had a 42-yard punt return for a touchdown against Wake Forest as a freshman . . . Has tremendous quickness and speed . . . Teammates call him Rocket Man . . . Picked as the outstanding high school player in Virginia by the Washington Touchdown Club after his senior year at Woodson . . . Also selected by the Washington Post as the metropolitan area's top offensive player . . . Favorite movie is The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman . . . Favorite food is his grandmother's home-made rolls and apple pie.

BUDDY CURRY 57
Linebacker
6-2½, 196, Sophomore
Danville, Va.

One of Carolina's best young players . . . Has the ability to be one of the best linebackers in the ACC . . . Started the last six games of the season last year as just a freshman . . . That included a start in the Peach Bowl where he played a brilliant game . . . Although he only started the last part of the season, Buddy led the Carolina linebackers in almost every defensive category . . . Has good speed . . . His range is the best of any Tar Heel linebacker . . . Helps a great deal in pass coverage as well as run support . . . On the very first play of his college career from the line of scrimmage, he intercepted a pass against Northwestern . . . Also had an interception in the Virginia game . . . Good leader to be so young . . . Did an outstanding job last fall on kick coverage . . . A lot of great things are expected of this young man this season.



64 BILL DARDEN
Defensive End
6-0½, 176, Sophomore
Charlotte, N. C.

Came out on his own and played on the junior varsity last season . . . Has a lot of desire and a good attitude . . . Likes to work . . . Has a lot to learn, however . . . Needs a lot of seasoning before he can play a prominent role.

PAUL DAVIS
Linebacker
6-1, 202, Sophomore
Appalachia, Va.
34

Played well on the junior varsity last fall . . . Strong and durable . . . Lacks experience, but is willing to learn . . . Made some big hits during spring practice . . . Starred in football, basketball and track at Appalachia High . . . Athlete he most admires is Jack Ham . . . Biggest thrill in sports is being a part of the Carolina team.

BOBBY DELONG
Quarterback
5-11, 170, Sophomore
Woodbridge, Va.
17

Played quarterback on the junior varsity last season . . . Completed 21 of 38 passes for 249 yards and one touchdown . . . Sustained a knee injury late in the fall and missed all of spring practice . . . Lacks experience because of that . . . Has a lot of work to do in order to catch up with the other quarterbacks.

BOB DUNCAN
Nose Guard
6-2, 203, Sophomore
Richmond, Va.
97

One of the biggest surprises of the off-season drills . . . Had a super spring . . . Played middle guard on the jayvee team last season . . . Ended the spring as the number two man at that position behind Dave Simmons . . . Got a long look in the spring because of an injury to Simmons . . . Quick and dedicated . . . Always gives a good effort . . . His style of play is similar to that of Roger Shonosky, who started for the Tar Heels last fall before being injured at mid-season . . . Coaches feel this young man has a bright football future at Carolina.

56 SCOTT DAVISON
Center
6-2½, 232, Senior
Virginia Beach, Va.

Ended the spring drills as the starting center . . . Has been Mark Cantrell's backup for the last two seasons . . . With Cantrell graduated and drafted by the Dallas Cowboys, this is Scott's chance . . . Big and strong . . . Has a good knowledge of the game . . . Has a lot of determination and always gives a good effort . . . Started two games at guard as a sophomore . . . Had a good spring until an injury slowed him in the last week of the off-season drills . . . The only senior starter in the interior line, he will be counted on to provide leadership there . . . His play will be one of the keys to Carolina's success this season . . . An all-state center at First Colonial High in Virginia Beach . . . Enjoys surfing and reading comic books . . . Favorite movie is One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest . . . His biggest thrill in sports was defeating Florida, 24-21, last season.

49 RONNIE DOWDY
Linebacker
6-2, 238, Senior
Durham, N. C.

Alternated with Mike Finn as a starter at one linebacker spot last season . . . Should again see plenty of action this fall . . . Primary asset is his strength . . . The strongest of the Tar Heel linebackers . . . He and Bobby Gay have the most game experience at linebacker of all the Tar Heel players . . . Has excellent physical ability . . . Quick and a hard hitter . . . Ran an interception 33 yards to the Army one-yard line against the Cadets last season, narrowly missing a touchdown . . . Expected to be one of the defensive leaders this year . . . Should be headed for his best season . . . A versatile performer at Jordan High in Durham, playing tailback, tight end and defensive end . . . Played in the Shrine Bowl and East-West All-Star Game . . . Enjoys music.

66 BILLY DUNN
Offensive Tackle
6-2½, 242, Senior
Hampton, Va.

Has played sparingly in the past and in a reserve role . . . Could provide depth at tackle this fall . . . Has also been used at guard . . . Has good size . . . Major drawback is a lack of experience . . . Did not take part in the spring work . . . One of only two seniors in the offensive line . . . His brother, Mike, quarterbacks the Duke Blue Devils.

JOHN ELAM
Kicking Specialist
5-11½, 208, Senior
Charlotte, N. C.

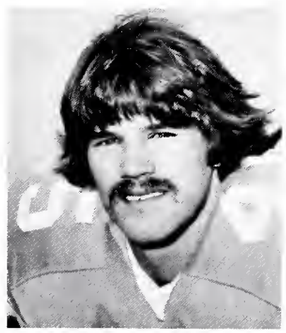
Has handled the Tar Heel punting for the last two seasons . . . Was also in the running for the quarterback position last fall before a leg injury knocked him out of the picture . . . Still handled the Carolina punting, however, and did a good job . . . Averaged 38.2 yards on 54 punts . . . Has a great ability to hang the ball which helps coverage . . . Opponents returned punts for only a 3.9 average last season and Elam's kicking was a big factor in that . . . Has a good strong leg . . . Averaged 40.7 yards per punt as a sophomore on 63 kicks . . . Had a 57-yard punt last year against Duke and a 56-yarder at Missouri . . . The 57-yard kick matched his career longest set against Notre Dame two years ago . . . Had the best single-game average of his career in the win over Duke last season, kicking three times for a 47.3 mark . . . An excellent all-around athlete . . . When injuries hit Carolina late in 1975, John played linebacker in the final game against Duke . . . Elam is also an outstanding golfer . . . He won the Pinehurst Collegiate Tournament in 1976 and led amateur qualifying for the 1975 Kemper Open . . . Was a member of Carolina's ACC championship golf team last spring . . . His dad was a star football player at Appalachian State . . . Enjoys fishing . . . Hopes to play pro football or pro golf . . . Favorite food is his mother's London Broil . . . His top thrills in sports were playing in the Kemper Open when he was 16 and in the Peach Bowl last season . . . His teammates call him Dean because he coached one of their intramural basketball teams last winter.

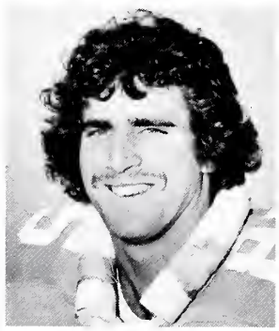


45
PHIL FARRIS
Tailback
6-0½, 196, Sophomore
Langdon, N. D.

An outstanding young prospect who shows great promise . . . The leading rusher on last year's junior varsity team . . . Had 393 yards on 99 carries for a 4.0 average . . . Averaged 28.2 yards on five kickoff returns . . . Has great speed for a back of his size . . . Good quickness . . . Gives Carolina a true breakaway threat at tailback . . . An excellent receiver . . . Just needs to develop his running a little more . . . Made a lot of improvement in the spring . . . Had 23 carries and 103 yards in the Blue-White game . . . Had a 52-yard scoring run in that game . . . Phil is the cousin of Ray Farris, who was a Tar Heel quarterback in the early 1960's . . . Voted the outstanding amateur athlete in North Dakota as a high school senior . . . Was all-state in football and basketball that year and also was state track champion in four events, including the 100 and the long jump . . . Although he missed a lot of practice due to spring football, Phil still finished third in the long jump at the ACC Outdoor Track Championships . . . Athlete he most admires is Bruce Jenner . . . Will contend for the starting tailback spot this fall . . . This young man has a great future at Carolina.

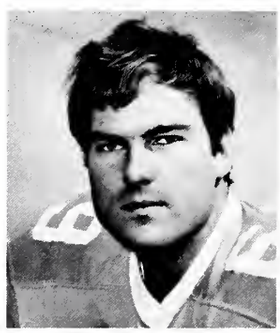
JAY FAULKNER
Defensive Back
5-9½, 172, Sophomore
Wilmington, Del.
40

Ended the spring as the number two right cornerback behind Bobby Cale . . . Has excellent talent . . . Good speed and quickness . . . Good reactions . . . Needs to improve his concentration on his responsibilities . . . Has the potential to be a fine player . . . Just needs to work hard . . . Likes to play basketball . . . Athlete he most admires is Jack Tatum . . . Best book he's read is All The President's Men.



85
MIKE FINN
Linebacker
6-3½, 226, Senior
Natick, Mass.

Split playing time with Ronnie Dowdy at one linebacker slot last season . . . An alternate starter . . . His pass interception on the goal line on the last play of the game preserved Carolina's 14-10 win over Miami last season . . . A versatile player who has found a home at linebacker . . . Played tight end as a freshman and most of his sophomore season . . . Switched to linebacker late in his sophomore year because of injuries . . . Has worked hard to become familiar with the position . . . Has a great attitude . . . Extremely intent . . . Has great desire and gives a good effort . . . Wants to succeed very much . . . Super competitor . . . Good strength . . . Will again see plenty of action this season . . . Was a football, basketball and crew star at Tabor Academy . . . Favorite food is spare ribs . . . Athletes he most admires are John Havlicek and Dave Cowens . . . Likes to play golf and tennis.



RON FOWLER
Offensive Guard
6-4½, 234, Junior
Richmond, Va.
69

One of the most dedicated and hardest working players on the squad . . . Has a lot of determination . . . Always gives a good effort . . . Played well in the spring . . . Has

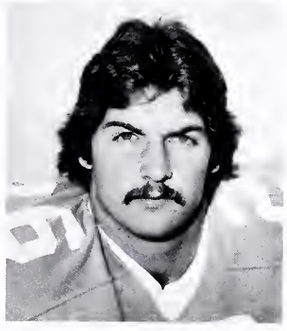
75 HANNON FRY
Offensive Tackle
6-2½, 242, Freshman
Manteo, N. C.

A transfer from Fork Union who participated in the spring work . . . Did a good job considering his lack of knowledge about the Carolina system . . . Will be ahead of the other incoming freshmen because of his spring experience . . . Has good size and strength . . . Exceptional feet . . . Although he played mainly at tackle in the spring, he could also be used at guard . . . Has a bright football future.



STEVE FRYE 26
Defensive Back
5-9½, 172, Junior
Statesville, N. C.

Came out on his own two years ago and has gained experience with the junior varsity . . . Has one of the best attitudes of any player in the secondary . . . Has great heart and desire . . . Lacks great speed, but makes up for that with aggressiveness . . . His dad is a high school coach in Statesville who once coached Carolina assistant Jim Donnan . . . Favorite film and TV stars are Clint Eastwood and Linda Carter.

54 BOBBY GAY
Linebacker
5-11, 211, Senior
Hopewell, Va.

Ended the spring as a starter . . . Coaches are expecting big things from him this fall . . . Bobby has now regained all of his mobility after a knee injury sustained in the 1975 season . . . Had a great spring . . . Has good movement . . . May deliver the hardest single punch of anyone on the defense . . . Slowed by injuries last fall, Bobby was healthy all spring . . . Being counted on as one of the defensive leaders . . . Has good linebacker instincts . . . Tough competitor . . . Gave one of his best performances in the 1974 Sun Bowl as a freshman . . . Also played exceptionally well in 1975 game at Ohio State . . . Alternate starter last year . . . Played tailback and linebacker at Hopewell High . . . An all-state player, Bobby played in the Virginia all-star game . . . Enjoys all outdoor sports.

P. J. GAY 15
Quarterback
6-0, 189, Sophomore
Sanford, N. C.

One of the best young players in the Atlantic Coast Conference . . . Missed all of last season with a knee injury . . . Underwent surgery to repair damaged cartilage and is now 100 per cent again . . . Was contending for the starting quarterback position when he went down in the pre-season last fall . . . Excellent all-around quarterback . . . May have more raw speed and quickness than any quarterback in Carolina history . . . Has good leadership traits . . . A heady player . . . Fine passer . . . Played well on the 1975 junior varsity, completing 37 of 72 passes for 541 yards and four touchdowns in four games . . . Played in one varsity game that year, throwing three incomplete passes . . . Lack of game experience is his biggest problem . . . Missed most of spring practice while playing baseball . . . A brilliant defensive centerfielder and an excellent base-runner . . . Made one of the biggest plays of the Carolina season with a perfect throw to the plate to cut down the tying run in 2-1 win at N. C. State . . . Teams with Matt Kupec and Clyde Christensen to give Carolina an excellent quarterback situation . . . Prep All-America . . . His dad was his high school coach . . . Quarterbacked two state championship teams in Sanford.

80 JEFF GREY

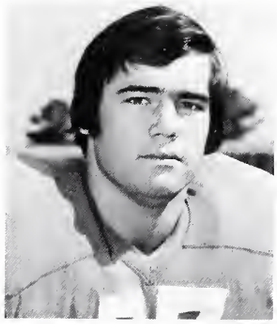
Bristol, Va.

Started on the 1975 junior varsity and was red-shirted last season . . . Missed the first part of the spring with an injury . . . Did not compete until the last week of the spring work . . . Could battle Steve Junkmann for the left tackle spot this fall . . . Has a good attitude . . . Good size and strength . . . Very dedicated . . . Most enjoyable book he's read is Meat on the Hoof . . . Majoring in RTVMP and Speech.

71 DEE HARDISON
Defensive Tackle
6-3½, 252, Senior
Newton Grove, N. C.

One of the premier players in college football . . . An All-America candidate in his senior season . . . Dee was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection last season and honorable mention All-America . . . Has always had great physical talent . . . However, did not really learn to play his position well until last season . . . Gained confidence and that was all he had been missing . . . Has speed, size and strength . . . Has good height which helps him as a pass rusher . . . Has great balance and foot quickness . . . Carolina coaches say if there is one thing wrong with Dee, it's that he isn't twins . . . Has a great attitude . . . Has worked hard to become an outstanding player . . . He and Bunn Rhames probably have the best overall body strength on the Carolina team . . . Has started every game for the last two seasons after seeing considerable action as a freshman . . . Voted the team's outstanding freshman player in 1974 and the best defensive lineman last season . . . Teams with Ken Sheets to give Carolina All-America play on the left side of the defensive line . . . Really came into his own during the spring of 1976 . . . Also played well last spring . . . ACC Player of the Week for his performance against East Carolina last season . . . Played just as well, if not better, against Florida, N. C. State and Wake Forest . . . Was double-teammed a great deal during the season . . . Played against some outstanding blockers in games against Missouri and Kentucky and that has helped his continued development . . . Very popular player who relates well to everybody . . . Has been a heavyweight wrestler for the Tar Heels for the last two seasons . . . He feels that has helped his aggressiveness . . . Had never wrestled before coming to Carolina . . . Won his first match ever by a pin . . . Loves kids . . . Would eventually like to work with small children in some way, perhaps as a kindergarten teacher . . . Majoring in elementary education . . . Likes to fish . . . Favorite athlete is Charles Waddell . . . Person in history he most admires is Jackie Robinson . . . Likes fried chicken . . . Teammates call him Peanut.



BOBBY HUKILL 77

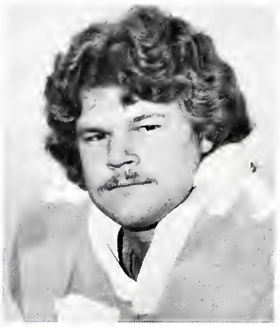
Buckingham, Va.

One of the best freshmen in college football last season . . . Could contend for all-star honors in just his second season . . . A powerful inside runner who has amazing speed for a man of his size . . . Already being compared to Ohio State fullback Pete Johnson as far as his build and style of play are concerned . . . Had a great game in win over Clemson, gaining 93 yards on 10 carries . . . Was awesome on one 41-yard burst in that game, breaking tackles left and right . . . ACC Rookie of the Week for that performance . . . Finished the season with 411 yards on 80 carries for a 5.1 yards-per-carry average . . . Also has good hands . . . Made two miracle catches in closing moments of Florida game . . . One of those catches came while he was lying on his side at the Gator five-yard line . . . That set up Carolina's winning touchdown . . . Also made a pressure catch against Duke . . . It was his eight-yard touchdown reception which set up Carolina's winning two-point conversion in the 39-38 win . . . Worked hard to improve his blocking throughout his freshman season . . . Acquired the nickname "Billy the Horse" in high school and that has stuck with him . . . A great young talent who will eventually be an All-America candidate.



79 STEVE JUNKMANN
Offensive Tackle
6-3½, 240, Sophomore
Woodbridge, Va.

Ended the spring as the starting left tackle . . . Saw action in a reserve role at defensive tackle in 1975 . . . Suffered an injury in the pre-season last fall and was red-shirted . . .

Switched to the offense this spring . . . Did an exceptionally good job in the spring work . . . Has good work habits . . . Has good feet, size and strength . . . Just lacks experience . . . Should team with Bobby Hukill to form an effective offensive tackle combination . . . His play will be another key to the Carolina season . . . Played on the same high school team as Ken Sheets . . . His father is an Air Force colonel . . . Person in history he most admires is Harry Truman . . . Favorite athlete is Carl Yastrzemski . . . Says his biggest thrill in sports was to start at defensive tackle as a freshman against Notre Dame . . . Teammates simply call him Junky.

RICHARD KLEINMAN
Kicking Specialist
6-1, 183, Senior
Great Neck, N. Y.
14

One of the better second-line punters in the country . . . Unfortunately for him, Richard is on the same team with John Elam . . . Has a good attitude, however, and is a hard worker . . . Punted for the jayvees last year and averaged 39.9 on 26 kicks . . . Kicked for both teams in the spring game and averaged 42.0 on 10 punts . . . Majoring in accounting . . . Likes to play backgammon, tennis and golf . . . Favorite song is Sounds of Silence.

12 MATT KUPEC
Quarterback
6-0½, 187, Sophomore
Syosset, N. Y.

Here's the Tar Heel quarterback and one of the best young signal-callers in the college game . . . Broke into the starting lineup midway through the season last year and did a tremendous job . . . The Tar Heels won five of the six games he started in the latter part of the season . . . Completed 52 of 99 passes for 751 yards and two touchdowns . . . Also gained 77 yards himself on 46 carries . . . Although he only started the last six games, Matt still finished 10th in the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense . . . Started last fall as the number five quarterback . . . Moved to the number two position after injuries cut down Johnny Stratton, P. J. Gay and John Elam in pre-season workouts . . . Played behind Bernie Menapace in the first five games to gain experience . . . Really developed as the season progressed . . . Moved into the starter's role against N. C. State and started the rest of the season . . . Matt had sustained a knee injury in the fall of 1975 and missed the entire season . . . Got a hardship ruling, however, and was a freshman in eligibility last season . . . Made big plays throughout the year . . . It was his perfect 24-yard toss to Walker Lee in the closing moments that set up Carolina's winning field goal against East Carolina . . . Completed five of seven passes for 90 yards and ran for 41 more on nine carries in victory at Clemson . . . Completed seven of 11 passes for 85 yards against Duke . . . Threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Billy Johnson with only 37 seconds to play in that game and then made a perfect option pitch to Mike Voight on a two-point conversion as the Tar Heels rallied for a 39-38 victory . . . Has a tremendous arm . . . A smart passer in that he reads defenses so well . . . Although he had a fine 1976 season, Matt made even more progress in the spring . . . Now handles the option much better . . . Matt is ambidextrous . . . He passes right-handed, but shoots left-handed on the basketball court . . . His brother, Chris, set a Carolina, ACC and NCAA passing percentage record while quarterbacking the Tar Heels to the Sun Bowl in 1974 . . . Matt underwent surgery in the early summer for removal of a benign growth on his left adrenal gland and his spleen . . . Expected to be ready for fall practice, however . . . Prep All-America . . . Favorite food is his mother's beef stroganoff . . . Athlete he most admires is Joe Namath . . . His biggest thrill in sports was Carolina's 39-38 win over Duke last year.

STAN LANCASTER

Boykins, Va.

Played center for the B team last fall . . . Moved to the defense in the spring . . . Starter during the latter part of the spring after injury sidelined Bunn Rhames . . . Has good size . . . Does not have great raw ability, but wants to learn . . . Needs seasoning and strength . . . Will be used in a reserve role this fall . . . Likes to play basketball . . . Was on the jayvee basketball team last winter.

WALKER LEE
Split End
5-11½, 170, Senior
High Point, N. C.
28

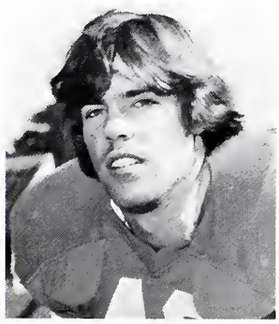
Beginning his second year as the starting split end . . . Caught six passes for 65 yards as the chief backup in 1975 and then had 11 receptions for 158 yards last year . . . Averaged 14.4 yards per catch . . . Made one of the key plays of the Carolina season with a crucial 24-yard third-down reception at the East Carolina eight-yard line . . . That set up Tom Biddle's winning field goal in the game's closing moments . . . Also had a 48-yard catch in that game . . . Had three catches for 46 yards at Missouri . . . Came to Carolina without a scholarship, but won one with his good play . . . Has gotten bigger and stronger every year he has been here . . . Has great speed . . . Pro scouts are interested in him because of his speed and good hands . . . His speed causes opposing defense problems . . . Blocking has improved considerably . . . Should be headed for a big season . . . Good all-around athlete . . . High school quarterback . . . Still holds his high school's pole vault record . . . Plays tennis well . . . Likes to ride his motorcycle . . . Favorite book is North Dallas Forty . . . Says his biggest thrill in sports was catching a 50-yard touchdown pass in the Peach Bowl even though it was called back because of a penalty.

55
LARRY LEONARD
Center
6-4, 233, Sophomore
Thomasville, N. C.

Played on the junior varsity in 1975 and then was red-shirted last season . . . Made progress during the spring . . . Has size and fairly good feet . . . Should compete for the backup center role . . . Needs to improve his strength.

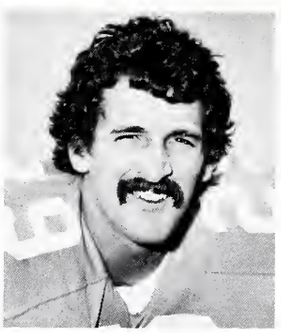
VAN LIPPENCOTT
Fullback
6-0, 212, Senior
Brownsville, Pa.
47

Moved from defensive end to fullback in the spring . . . Did a good job in the off-season work . . . Had four carries for 28 yards in the Blue-White Game . . . Shows promise at this new position . . . Will be used in a reserve role this fall . . . Has been a backup kickoff man in the past . . . Could be a factor in that department again this fall . . . Enjoys scuba diving . . . Favorite food is stuffed peppers . . . Would like to be a pilot after graduation.



43
BOB LOOMIS
Fullback
6-3, 216, Junior
Silver Spring, Md.

Should alternate with Billy Johnson at fullback this season . . . Started the last three games of his freshman season and on occasion last year . . . Fine blocker . . . Good short-yardage runner . . . Especially effective on quick dive plays . . . Had 75 yards on 17 carries against Duke as a freshman . . . Had 50 yards on eight carries against Tulane that same season . . . Top rushing game last year was 43 yards on nine carries against Northwestern . . . Big and strong . . . Missed all of the spring practice and that will put him a little behind this fall . . Has the ability to be another in a long line of good Carolina fullbacks.



BILL MABRY
Wingback
5-11, 187, Senior
Mt. Airy, N. C.
29

Has seen action in a reserve role at wingback for the last two seasons . . . Saw more action last year than in 1975 after an ankle injury slowed Mel Collins . . . A good, dependable player . . . Has a lot of experience . . . Fine receiver with good hands . . . Probably the best blocker among the Tar Heel wingbacks . . . Had one of his best days in win at Army last season . . . Caught six passes in that game for 49 yards . . . One of his biggest plays came during the 1975 season at Virginia . . . It was his 21-yard catch that kept alive Carolina's winning touchdown drive against the Cavaliers . . . One of Carolina's most outstanding specialty team players . . . Made a lot of big plays covering kicks last year . . . Would like to coach after graduation . . . Enjoys hunting, fishing and hiking . . . Athlete he most admires is John Kuester . . . Favorite foods are pinto beans, onions and cornbread . . . A tough competitor who will see plenty of action this season.

23
KEN MACK
Fullback
5-11, 194, Junior
Cary, N. C.

A reserve safety last season, Ken was moved to fullback in the spring . . . Did a good job after the switch . . . Learned the position quickly and well . . . His spring performance was especially impressive considering it was the first time he had ever been a blocker . . . Had five carries in the Blue-White Game for 29 yards . . . Was an important member of Carolina's outstanding specialty teams last season . . . Likes Chinese food . . . Favorite athletes are O. J. Simpson and Muhammed Ali . . . Majoring in psychology . . . His father is in the service . . . Because of that Ken has travelled a great deal . . . Played little league football in Japan.

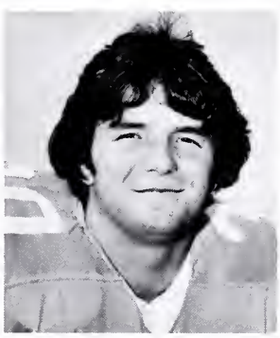
T. K. McDANIELS
Defensive End
6-3, 230, Junior
Hyattsville, Md.
92

Started the first five games of the 1976 season at defensive tackle before being injured . . . Saw reserve action behind Bunn Rhames after that . . . Turned in a fine performance against Florida . . . Switched to end during the off-season . . . Biggest assets are his speed and mobility . . . Those assets made the switch to end a natural one . . . Just needs experience to become a top-flight player at this position . . . Expected to challenge Stan Lancaster for the starting right end spot this fall . . . Seemed to make the transition to end easily in the spring . . . End will give him a better chance to fully use his natural ability . . . Has good size and excellent leverage . . . Outstanding running ability for a man of his size . . . Led metropolitan Washington in home runs as a high school senior . . . Played on a state championship basketball team at Bladensburg High with former Tar Heel Bruce Buckley . . . Another in a long line of outstanding Carolina players from the metropolitan Washington area.

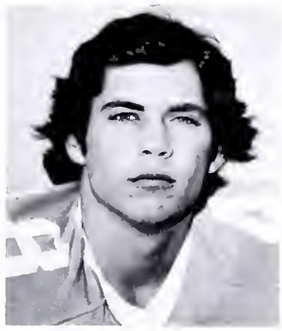


30
MAX McGEE
Defensive Back
5-10½, 170, Sophomore
Tampa, Fla.

Finished the spring as the number two free safety . . . Started in the secondary for the jayvees in 1975 and was then red-shirted last year . . . A good defensive back . . . Has a keen sense of playing the ball in the air . . . Diagnoses plays well . . Fine competitor . . . Does not have great size and that is his major weakness . . . Lists intertubing as his favorite pastime . . . Majoring in botany . . . Hopes to go to dental school.

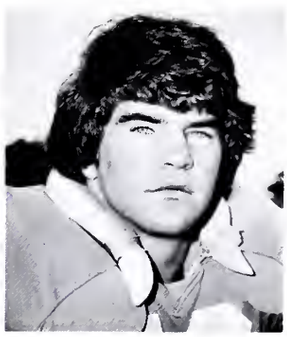
BERNIE MENAPACE
Defensive Back
6-0, 189, Junior
Sterling, Va.
16

One of Carolina's best all-around athletes . . . Listed as the number one free safety going into the fall . . . Gives Carolina a leader and a great player to replace a great player (Ronny Johnson) at that position . . . A quarterback for his first two years at Carolina, Bernie was switched to the secondary early in fall practice last year . . . Then when injuries cut down the Tar Heels' top three quarterbacks, he moved back to that position . . . Started Carolina's first five games and guided the Tar Heels to a 4-1 record . . . Did an excellent job until Matt Kupec got some experience and was ready to play . . . Finished the season as Carolina's fourth leading rusher with 178 yards . . . Was sensational in win over Florida, running for 77 yards and passing for 64 more . . . Ran nine yards on a perfectly executed option play for one score and threw a 12-yard pass to Brooks Williams for another . . . Made one of the biggest plays of the season in that game when he eluded four tacklers and threw a 12-yard pass to Billy Johnson in a fourth-and-six situation in the fourth quarter . . . That set up Carolina's winning touchdown . . . Also scored TDs on short runs against Northwestern and Army . . . Played quarterback on the 1974 junior varsity . . . Missed the 1975 season with a foot injury . . . He's such an outstanding athlete, coaches felt he had to be in the lineup somewhere . . . So he was switched to free safety in the spring . . . Excellent at diagnosing plays . . . Missed a lot of spring practice, however, because of baseball and an injury . . . Has all the capabilities to play this position, but the verdict is still out . . . Problem is a lack of experience at one of the most vital positions in the entire defense . . . Played first base for the Carolina baseball team last spring before being sidelined with hand injury . . . Tough left-handed hitter and a fine base-runner . . . Will be Carolina's backup place-kicker this season . . . A former punt-pass-kick champion.



48
JOHN MILLER
Wingback
5-11, 189, Sophomore
Charlotte, N. C.

A walk-on who made a good contribution to the junior varsity last season . . . Does a good job blocking and has good hands . . . Needs more experience . . . Athlete he most admires is Rocky Blier . . . Favorite food is cornbeef and cabbage . . . Post-school ambition is to be a rancher.



TONY MILLS
Nose Guard
5-11½, 214, Junior
Sanford, N. C.
42

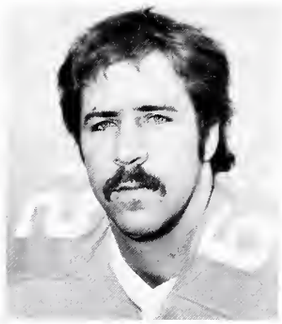
Played fullback in 1974 and 1975 . . . Switched to middle guard prior to the 1976 season . . . A knee injury sidelined him last year . . . Because of that, his ability to play this position is unknown . . . Has a great attitude and is a hard worker . . . Coachable and likeable . . . Did not take part in the spring work . . . Lack of experience will be his major problem this season . . . One of the team's strongest players . . . Played on a 4-A state championship team at Sanford Central High . . . Another member of that team was P. J. Gay.

37 D. R. MULLINS
Defensive Back
6-0, 164, Freshman
Clintwood, Va.

An unknown quantity going into the fall drills . . . Was injured all last year . . . Got a hardship ruling and an extra year of eligibility . . . His status for this season will depend on his attitude and how much he progresses in the early workouts . . . Listed as a backup at right cornerback going into the fall.

KEVIN NOLAN 72
Offensive Tackle
6-4, 253, Sophomore
Medford Lakes, N. J.

A starting tackle on the 1975 junior varsity who was red-shirted last year . . . Had a good spring practice and now appears ready to play . . . Ended the spring as the number two right tackle behind Bobby Hukill . . . Good worker . . . Dedicated and wants to learn . . . Good size, but lacks experience . . . Majoring in speech . . . Interested in real estate as a career . . . Person in history he most admires is John Kennedy.



62 KEVIN NORTON
Defensive End
6-1, 206, Junior
Raleigh, N. C.

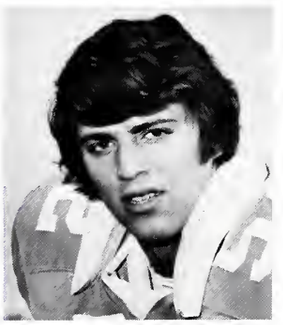
Came out on his own two years ago as a linebacker . . . Has played strictly with the junior varsity . . . Shifted to defensive end in the spring . . . Hard worker who wants to play . . . Does not have great size or speed, but makes up for that with hustle and effort . . . Progress was slowed in the spring by a shoulder injury . . . His brother Pat played split end on the 1974 Tar Heel Sun Bowl team.

DOUG PASCHAL 25
Tailback
6-1½, 214, Sophomore
Greenville, N. C.

One of the leading candidates for Mike Voight's tailback position . . . Looked good in the spring before breaking his ankle and missing the last two weeks of the off-season drills . . . Powerful inside runner with good balance . . . A fierce competitor . . . Did a great job as a member of Carolina's specialty teams last season . . . Only had nine carries from scrimmage, but had 56 yards for a 6.2 rushing average . . . Saw considerable action at tailback in the Peach Bowl after Voight was sidelined with an ankle injury . . . Had 11 carries and 41 yards . . . Good blocker . . . A mature young man who adapts well to any situation . . . Has a lot of confidence . . . Played on a 4-A state championship team at Greenville Rose High . . . Enjoys all water sports, hunting and snow-skiing . . . Majoring in business . . . Favorite food is his mother's home-made soup . . . Favorite TV and movie personalities are Clint Eastwood and Mary Tyler Moore . . . Played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game . . . An outstanding young prospect.

39 DELBERT POWELL
Tailback
5-10, 178, Sophomore
Elizabeth City, N. C.

One of the best all-around athletes on the Carolina team . . . Could play any of the skilled positions except quarterback . . . Played split end as a freshman, but was moved to tailback in the spring . . . Switch was made because of his tremendous breakaway speed . . . Former high school 100-yard dash champion in North Carolina . . . Won the Atlantic Coast Conference Indoor 60-yard dash championship last winter . . . Tar Heels would like him to get the football more often this fall . . . Caught four passes last year for 119 yards and an amazing 29.8 yards-per-catch average . . . Was the only freshman to make the All-ACC team last fall . . . Made the team as a return specialist . . . Was second in the conference in kickoff returns with a 24.2 average on 22 attempts . . . Averaged 8.2 yards on nine punt returns . . . Ranked 15th nationally in kickoff returns . . . Was the only player in the ACC to return a kick for a touchdown last year . . . Brought back a kickoff 98 yards to paydirt against Wake Forest . . . That broke the school record of 97 yards held by Johnny Pecora and Don McCauley . . . Named ACC Rookie of the Week for his play in that game . . . Also had a 45-yard reception against the Deacons . . . Likes to play tennis . . . Certain to see plenty of action this fall.



PHIL RAGAZZO 52
Center
6-4½, 233, Junior
Chapel Hill, N. C.

In the battle for the backup center spot . . . Could also figure into the deep-snap picture . . . Has size and quickness . . . Played on the 1974 junior varsity and was red-shirted in 1975 . . . An all-state performer at Chapel Hill High, Phil played in the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game . . . His dad is an assistant coach at Wake Forest.

67 ULYESSES RHAMES
Defensive Tackle
6-2½, 241, Junior
Wilmington, N. C.

Started the last six games of the season last fall and did a good job . . . Has fine ability . . . Assets are his strength and speed . . . In fact, he and Dee Hardison probably have the best overall body strength of anyone on the Tar Heel team . . . Saw considerable action as a freshman as a reserve middle guard . . . Was shifted to tackle last fall . . . Thoroughly knows his position . . . Has confidence playing it and can explain it . . . Made good progress in the spring . . . Missed some of the spring work because of a knee injury . . . Underwent successful surgery for torn cartilage and will be 100 per cent this fall . . . A dedicated worker . . . Spends a lot of time working with weights . . . Likes seafood and home-made spaghetti . . . Enjoys dancing and listening to music . . . Favorite athlete is Reggie Jackson . . . Would eventually like to work with handicapped children . . . Rhames is better known as Bunn than Ulyesses, but has no preference . . . Teammates also call him Bundini.

NEIL ROBINSON 90
Defensive End
5-10½, 187, Sophomore
Shelby, N. C.

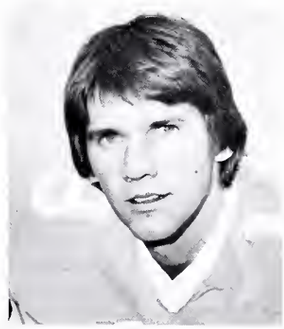
Came out on his own and made a good contribution to the junior varsity last season . . . Fine hustler who always gives a good effort . . . Very aggressive . . . Wants to play . . . Does not have great physical talent, but makes up for that with determination and enthusiasm.

87 KENNY ROGERS
Tight End
6-4, 254, Sophomore
Washington, N. C.

Has all the tools to be a fine player . . . Has excellent size, speed and hands to play tight end . . . Needs to master his blocking techniques . . . Played on the jayvee team last year . . . Saw only limited varsity action behind Brooks Williams and Mike Corbin . . . Outstanding football and basketball star in high school.

JOHN ROOD 44
Defensive Back
5-10, 170, Sophomore
Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Walk-on who finished the spring as a reserve at right cornerback . . . Lacks experience . . . Good hustler who wants to play . . . Had an interception in the Blue-White Game . . . Needs to make a lot of progress before he can contribute.

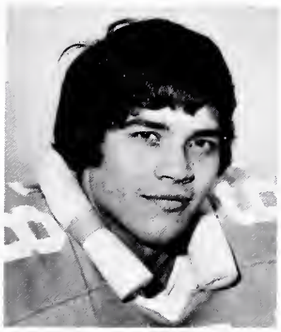


19 JIM ROUSE
Split End
6-2, 185, Junior
Wilmington, N. C.

A fine player who was the number two split end last season . . . Best blocker of all the Carolina wide receivers . . . Threw the key downfield block that sprang Mike Voight loose on a 84-yard scoring run at Clemson . . . Had three catches for 35 yards . . . Has excellent hands . . . Does the holding for all Tar Heel place-kicks . . . Great hustler . . . Led the 1975 jayvees with 16 catches in four games for 272 yards and a 17.0 yards-per-catch average . . . One of the team's most popular players . . . Has been bothered by injuries during his career . . . Suffered a broken leg during summer baseball . . . Should be ready for the fall, however . . . Will again split time with Walker Lee this season . . . Excellent all-around athlete . . . Made the All-ACC baseball second team last spring as a designated hitter . . . Batted .310 . . . Enjoys hunting and fishing . . . Athlete he most admires is Fred Biletnikoff . . . Biggest thrills in sports were playing in the Peach Bowl last season and against the New York Yankees in an exhibition game in the spring.

JOHN RUSHING 60
Offensive Guard
6-2½, 246, Junior
Wingate, N. C.

Started every game at left guard last season because of an injury to Mike Salzano . . . Did a good job . . . Gained valuable experience and will start there again this season . . . Has good size and quickness . . . Just needs to be stronger and more aggressive . . . Should team with Salzano to give Carolina good guard play . . . Started on the junior varsity in 1975 . . . Plays with a lot of determination . . . Made more progress during spring drills . . . Coaches feel he has the potential to be an outstanding player . . . One of two married players on the Tar Heel squad . . . John was married in the spring of 1976.



68 MIKE SALZANO
Offensive Guard
6-3½, 235, Junior
Durham, N. C.

The best offensive guard in the Atlantic Coast Conference . . . A leading candidate for the Jacobs Blocking Trophy which goes to the top blocker in the ACC . . . Had an outstanding year as a freshman, earning a starting spot . . . Played sparingly last year, however, because of a knee injury . . . Is completely healed now . . . Played very well in the spring . . . Has good size . . . Has great foot movement and quickness . . . Potentially, one of the greatest linemen in Carolina history . . . Even as a freshman he was being compared with consensus All-America Ken Huff . . . Wears Huff's old number 68 . . . Has been switched from left guard to the right side . . . Could use a little more weight and will probably add that in his final two years here . . . Very intelligent player . . . Has a good attitude and wants to learn . . . Mike had a great prep career at Northern Durham High . . . Was state high school shot put champion . . . Although he missed most of track practice while taking part in spring football, Mike still finished sixth in the shot at the ACC Outdoor Championships last year . . . The University

"The Southern Part of Heaven."

The late artist William Meade Prince described Chapel Hill and the University of North Carolina that way several years ago.

Like many things in this small, yet cosmopolitan village, the magic, romance and beauty that fascinated Prince remain unchanged today.

Time Magazine has called Chapel Hill "one of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States."

The school itself is the oldest state university in the nation, first admitting students in 1795 while George Washington was President. However, it was not until after Reconstruction that Carolina began making the rapid progress that has lifted it to the top of southern education.

There are currently 14 schools at Carolina and more than 70 departments and other academic-affiliated divisions and institutes.

Strong in both the humanities and the sciences, the University also has a School of Business Administration of special potency, commensurate with the growing industrial might of the mid-South.

Carolina is one of six universities in the nation with a full range of health professional schools, including medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, nursing and public health. The center of this Division of Health Affairs is North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

Among the dozens of institutes and specialized programs affiliated with that division are the Health Services Research Center, the Hand Rehabilitation Center, the Child Development and Mental Retardation Research Institute and the Dental Research Center, each of which is one of only a few centers of its kind in the country.

Carolina is one of the largest and top-ranking universities in the nation. A recent rating of graduate schools by the American Council on Education put 12 UNC graduate departments in the highest category and 12 in the second highest. This made Carolina the leader of all universities, public or private, in the Southeast.

Alan Carter of the ACE describes Carolina as "the leading southern university, a liberal voice in the region."

In annual choices made by southern graduate scholars in the Rockefeller grants, more select graduate study at Chapel Hill than any other place.

The University is continuing to grow as it strives to keep pace with the changing world of today. Growth has been especially tremendous in the last 20 years. Those two decades have seen the establishment of the School of Journalism, the School of Business Administration, the Carolina Population Center, the WUNC-TV educational television station, the Ackland Art Center and a new computer system.

In that same time buildings have multiplied; student enrollment has reached nearly 20,000; the faculty has grown to over 1,200; new courses have been added to the curriculum and old ones revised; adult education courses have expanded; and scholarship and development programs have grown.

Here are some other facts of interest about one of America's great universities.

—Carolina's Morehead Planetarium was the first planetarium on a university campus in the world. It features special programs and exhibits and is a training base for U. S. astronauts. The unique Planetarium Sundial allows one to determine the correct time anywhere in the world.

—Thirty-one of North Carolina's 50 governors have been Carolina graduates.

—One of the best-known organizations on campus is the Carolina Playmakers. Former members of the Playmakers include Thomas Wolfe, Paul Green and Betty Smith.

—James K. Polk, an 1818 graduate, became the 11th President of the United States.

—The Institute of Government on campus is a training center for city, county and state officials and employees. It is also involved in research and consultations for state and local governments.

—The University's television network feeds programs into North Carolina public schools.

—In a traditional program of student self-government, undergraduates have their own legislature, system of honor courts and student publications. These include a daily newspaper, "The Daily Tar Heel."

—Another feature is the Institute for Research in Social Science, an organization performing fact-finding duties in sociology, economics, humanities, statistics, journalism and other fields, including race relations, urban studies and regional development.

But perhaps the most outstanding feature of the University is the gentle way the new has been blended with the old to form one of the most beautiful campuses in the world.

Ivy-covered buildings and tree-lined walkways surround spacious, grassy greens where students lounge between classes. Tall pines cover south campus where modern buildings are under construction.

In direct contrast are Gerard Hall, built in 1837, and Old East, the oldest state university building in the nation. The cornerstone to Old East was laid in 1793 and the dorm was dedicated as a national shrine in 1966.

Other famous and beautiful spots around campus are the Old Well, the Davie Poplar, the Carolina Inn, the botanical gardens and Gimghoul Castle.

Despite the change and growth, the basic beauty of this area remains the same. It still truly is "the Southern Part of Heaven."

A Town Touched by Strange Magic

The late Jake Wade wrote this piece a good many years ago. Even today, it captures the spirit of this Town as well as anything we know. Mr. Wade was director of sports publicity at the University at the time of his death.

This is a town touched by strange magic and one to which its peoples, many of them a curious breed, hold a rare and somewhat inexplicable attachment. Our town has no rivers, no mountains, no seas, but in the spring it is beautiful and in all seasons it is both wonderful and sad, romantic in the spirit of the youth it harbors in the educational process of the great State University, which is the town's principal industry.

Chapel Hill, where bells wake you in the morning, regardless of whether you live in the Beta house, Cobb dormitory or on Laurel Hill Road, and where the bells keep ringing periodically the day long, with the chimes taking over in the majesty of twilight and on certain important occasions such as the big football games.

Not, really, a village any more, although its inhabitants, some living in the past, like to consider it as such . . . None of us will go so far as to say that it possesses the tranquillity and serenity of the Twenties, when Thomas Wolfe and Paul Green and LeGette Blythe and "Monk" McDonald and the Carmichaels found adventure, melancholy and beauty in their diverse pursuits on the old campus and the unexplored lands beyond . . . It is not as small, and not quite as nice, but almost, and there is a whole new world of knowledge to be discovered here with resources of mind and matter in abundance.

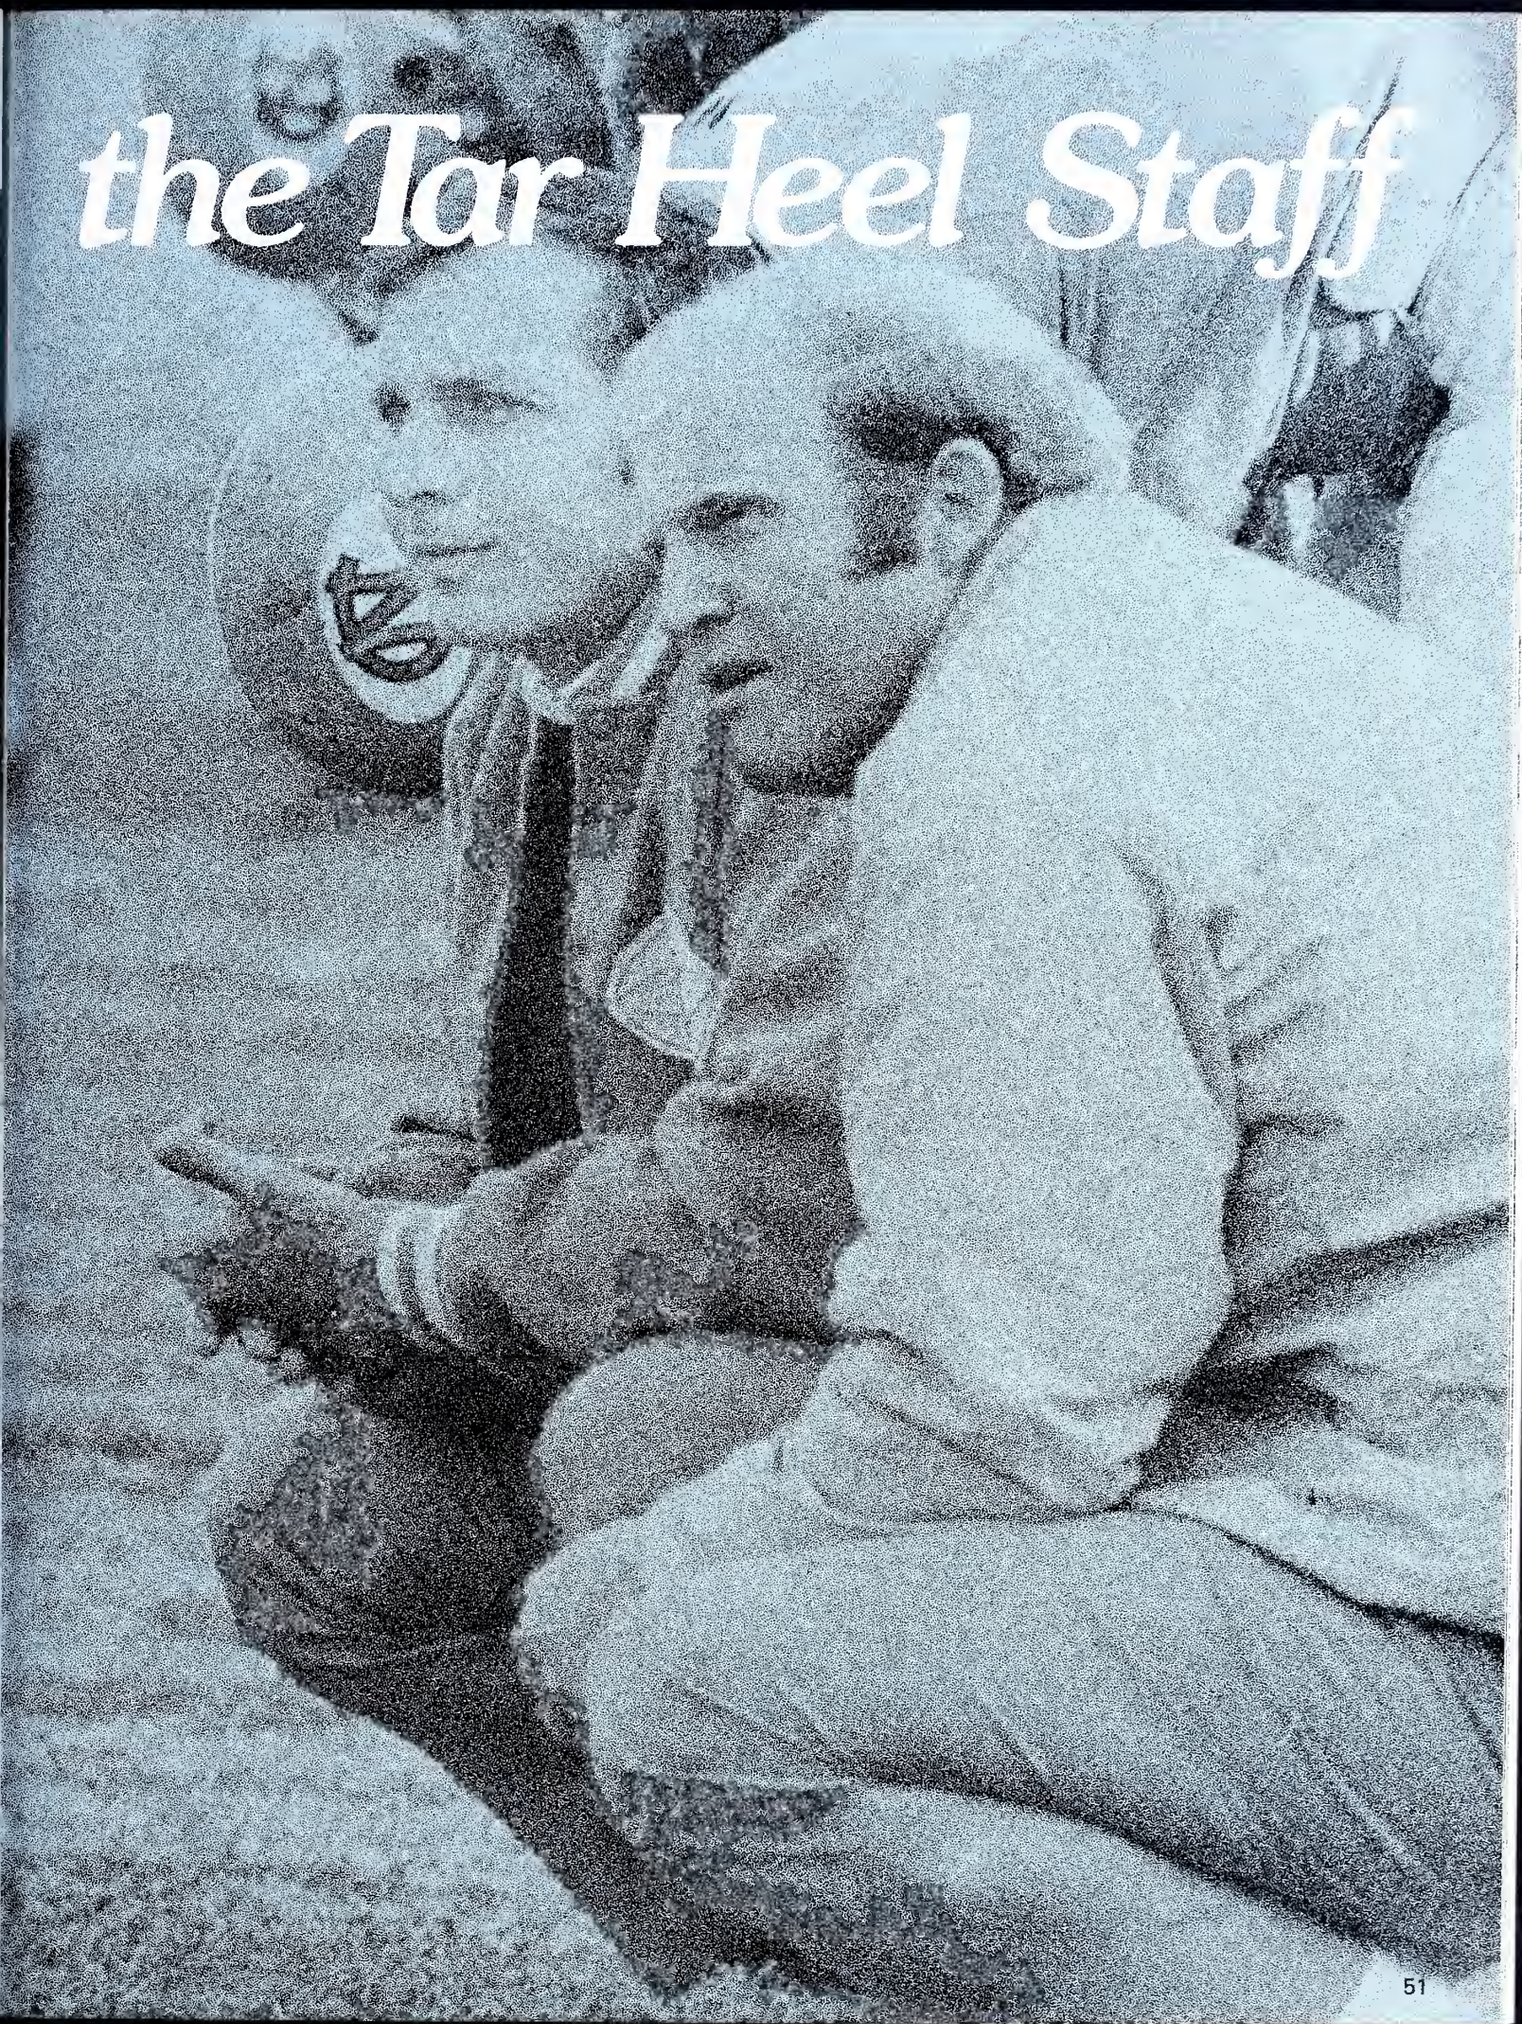
Chapel Hill, where the civic clubs do not sing, salute flags or wear badges, but unostentatiously and quietly engage in humanitarian projects as earnestly as their backslapping counterparts of the cities . . . Where its only commercial radio station taboos hillbilly tunes and plays sweet music and deathless great arias.

In Chapel Hill that man in dungarees, coming out of the post office, is just as apt to be a best-selling novelist as the town's leading plumber or the divorced author of profound treatises on the science of nuptial compatibility . . . Where shoe shines, on the most modest leather, cost you twenty cents per copy, with the same treatment from five to ten cents cheaper in a much larger town across the way, but there you are not waited on by one of the town's most popular citizens who contributes philosophy, sound sense and remarkably accurate football prognostications as a dividend to the dab of mundane polish.

People in our town go to church, pray, are kind and considerate, both the students and the townspeople, as in all towns . . . But where some of the ministers never wear hats, do wear sweaters, and sometimes drive the more modest editions of those little foreign make sports cars, but their democracy in manners is no compromise with the dignity of their souls, for our town is blessed with able and Godly preachers.

Chapel Hillians, like the folks in your town or city, play poker and bridge but, strangely, little or no gin rummy, and they play golf and handball . . . Chapel Hill, where the tiniest tots are able swimmers, and old men play an exciting brand of tennis . . . Where there are circles and cliques, as in all towns, for the socials, round tables and sports, but where those who travel together are frequently of oddly dissimilar tastes . . . A famous singer breaks bread often and attends games with a Kenan professor . . . A coach has tea regularly with a brilliant author . . . A university department head finds more wisdom, truth and beauty in the philosophy of a bistro keeper than in the ivory towers of his own intellectual level and prefers his company . . . But Chapel Hill is a town of neighbors who are bird watchers and who tend their flowers with loving care and talk over stone walls and drink their coffee or cocktails while talking oftenest about their children and grandchildren . . . That's Chapel Hill. God bless our town and its gentle way of life.

the Tar Heel Staff



Pat Watson

Offensive Coordinator and Offensive Line

Pat Watson, once a star player for Bill Dooley at Mississippi State, is the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach for the Carolina Tar Heels.

Watson has an all-star reputation. He was an all-star himself in his playing days with the Bulldogs and he has been turning them out in the line at Carolina. In his five years on the Tar Heel staff Pat has produced two consensus All-Americas, guards Ron Rusnak and Ken Huff.

Watson is actually in his second coaching stint at Carolina. He served as a graduate assistant here in 1967 and 1968. He then coached at Furman for one year before serving as defensive line coach at his alma mater for two seasons. He returned to Chapel Hill in 1972.

As a player, Pat was an offensive guard and a linebacker at Mississippi State in the early 1960's. He was All-Southeastern Conference in 1963 and 1964 and All-America in 1963. He also made the All-SEC academic teams in those years.

His 1963 team won the Liberty Bowl game. Dooley was Watson's coach at that time.

Pat is married to the former Freddie Mauldin. Both are natives of Meridian, Miss. The Watsons have a daughter, Jane Elizabeth, and a new baby boy, Pascal Lamar III.

Jim Dickey

Defensive Coordinator and Secondary

Carolina's defensive coordinator is Jim Dickey, one of the most knowledgeable men in the game today.

Dickey is beginning his third year on the Tar Heel staff. He came to Carolina from the University of Kansas where he had been assistant head coach and defensive coordinator for two years. Prior to that, he was an assistant coach at the University of Oklahoma for three years, at Oklahoma State for four years and at the University of Houston for three years. ~~In all his college~~

A native of Houston, Dickey played quarterback at Tyler, Tex. Junior College and then at Houston in 1954 and 1955. He was All-Missouri Valley in 1955.

He began his coaching career at Ball High School in Galveston, Tex. in 1957 and remained there for three seasons. He was head coach at King High in Houston in 1961 and 1962 before returning to his alma mater in 1963.

In 1967 his secondary at Oklahoma State ranked fourth in the nation in pass defense. In 1973 under Dickey's coaching, Kansas led the nation in pass interceptions and forced turnovers.

Jim is married to the former Inez Philpot of Houston and they have three children —Deborah, Jim Jr., and Darrell.

Sandy Kinney

Offensive Backs

Success has followed Sandy Kinney throughout his Carolina career—as both a player and a coach.

Kinney was a member of the 1963 Tar Heel team which posted an 8-2 regular season record and then routed the Air Force Academy, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Now as a coach he has helped guide Carolina to two Atlantic Coast Conference championships and five bowl games in the last seven years.

After graduating from Carolina, Kinney coached here one year under Jim Hickey and then was in the Air Force in 1966. He returned to Chapel Hill in 1967 as a graduate assistant to Bill Dooley and was made a full-time staff member the following year.

Sandy's first assignment was working with Carolina's freshman teams. In that role he helped develop the young players who took the Tar Heels to the top of the ACC.

Kinney was elevated to the varsity staff in 1972 to work with the offensive backs. His main role is helping the Tar Heel fullbacks and wingbacks.

Sandy is a native of Hendersonville, N.C. and is married to the former Sondra Peabody of Raleigh. They have two sons—George Sandifer III and Robert Bruce.

Al Groh

Defensive Ends

The coach of the Carolina defensive ends is Al Groh, who is entering his fifth year on the Tar Heel staff.

In addition to coaching the ends, Al also works closely with Carolina's outstanding specialty teams. In his time in Chapel Hill, he has also coached the Tar Heel linebackers. One of his star players last season, Bill Perdue, made the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team.

A native of New York City, Groh was a football and baseball star at Chaminade High School in Mineola, N.Y. He was an all-metropolitan football player and president of his senior class.

Groh attended the University of Virginia. He was a defensive end in football there and a defenseman in lacrosse.

He began his coaching career in 1967 at Albemarle High School in Virginia. He was an assistant coach at Army in 1968 and 1969 before returning to his alma mater as freshman coach in 1970. He joined the Cavalier varsity staff the following season as defensive line coach.

Al follows all sports avidly. He is one of the trivia experts on the Tar Heel staff.

Groh is married to the former Anne Stahle of Cornwall on the Hudson, N.Y. They have a son, Michael, and a daughter, Ashley Anne.

Offensive Backs

Jim Donnan

A former star player and coach at N.C. State, Jim Donnan is now an offensive backfield coach for the Carolina Tar Heels.

Donnan is in his fourth year on the Carolina staff. In his first two years he served as freshman coach and chief recruiter. His main areas of concentration this season will be the Tar Heel quarterbacks and tailbacks.

A native of Burlington, N.C., Donnan was a quarterback himself on Wolfpack teams in 1965, 1966 and 1967. In his senior year he guided State to its best record ever and a victory over Georgia in the Liberty Bowl. He was the Most Valuable Player in that game and finished second in the balloting for ACC Athlete of the Year.

After graduation Jim joined the Wolfpack coaching staff and remained there until 1972. He then came to Carolina for a short time before going on to Florida State. He was an assistant coach for the Seminoles for two seasons.

Jim is still an active athlete. He plays tennis regularly and ranks as one of the best players in the state. He also is a sports trivia expert.

Donnan is married to the former Mary Wright. They have three children—Paige, Tammy and Todd.

Defensive Linemen

Tom Harper

The newest member of the Tar Heel coaching staff, and one of the most popular, is Tom Harper who works with the Carolina defensive linemen.

Harper is beginning his second season at Carolina. Last year one of his players, Dee Hardison, made the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team.

A native of Madisonville, Ky., Harper played offensive and defensive tackle for Bear Bryant at the University of Kentucky from 1950 to 1953. He later served as a graduate assistant coach there under Blanton Collier.

After a successful coaching career at Manuel High in Louisville, Harper became an assistant at Eastern Kentucky in 1965. He then coached at Oklahoma State for three seasons before going to Wake Forest in 1969.

Harper served as defensive coordinator for the Deacons and helped guide them to the Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1970. He served as head coach at Wake Forest in 1972. After a short stint with Jacksonville of the World Football League in 1973, he joined the Iowa State staff in 1974. He was there for two seasons before coming to Chapel Hill.

Harper is married to the former Coral Evans of Logan, W. Va. They have five children.

Offensive Ends

Tom Fletcher

Tom Fletcher enters his sixth year at Carolina as coach of the Tar Heel offensive ends.

In his time in Chapel Hill, Fletcher has served in several vital capacities. He headed Carolina's recruiting program for two years, spent two other seasons working with the B team and is now in his second season as coach of the ends.

Tom came to Carolina from the University of Virginia where he coached the Cavalier offensive line. He also tutored the Virginia receivers and gained great recognition when two of them, Bill Davis and Dave Sullivan, led the Atlantic Coast Conference in pass catches.

Prior to coaching the offensive line, Fletcher worked with the Cavalier freshman team. He had formerly been a coach at Castlewood High in Virginia. He had an undefeated season there and was named coach of the year.

A native of St. Paul, Va., Tom is a 1960 graduate of Hampden-Sydney where he lettered in three sports. He obtained his masters degree from the University of Virginia in 1968.

Linebackers

Gary Darnell

Gary Darnell, beginning his second year on the Tar Heel staff, will again coach the Carolina linebackers this season.

Darnell was a star linebacker himself in his playing days at Oklahoma State University. His three-year record as a linebacker is one of the best in Cowboy history. He made 222 assisted tackles, 84 unassisted, recovered four fumbles, broke up 10 passes and made two interceptions.

A native of Waldron, Ark., Darnell began his coaching career as a student assistant at OSU in 1970. He was a varsity linebacker coach in 1971 and head freshman coach in 1972. He was junior varsity coach at Southern Methodist University in 1973 and 1974 and defensive end coach there in 1975.

In his spare time Darnell enjoys playing golf. His other hobbies include music and flying.

Gary is married to the former Sandra McAlister of Moore, Okla. They have a daughter, Kristen.

John Guy

Junior Varsity

One of the most popular members of the Tar Heel Staff is John Guy, who works with the Carolina junior varsity.

Guy is beginning his fourth year at Carolina and his second as head junior varsity coach. In his first year in Chapel Hill, John served as a graduate assistant. He was then named assistant jayvee coach the following season. When Jim Donnan was elevated to the varsity staff, Guy was elevated to his current position.

A native of Greensboro, N.C., Guy was a three-sport star at James B. Dudley High School there. He played football, basketball and baseball.

John was a free safety for Coach Hornsby Howell at North Carolina A&T from 1969 to 1972. He lettered all four years and made the MEAC all-star team as a senior.

Guy is a bachelor and takes a lot of kidding about that from his fellow coaches.

Paul Hoolahan

Athletic Fitness Director

Paul Hoolahan, a former star football player at Carolina, is the athletic fitness director at the University.

Hoolahan was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference tackle for the Tar Heels in 1970. He led an offensive line that took Carolina to the Peach Bowl and helped Don McCauley set an NCAA single-season rushing record.

An outstanding student, Paul received a B.A. in English at Carolina and his M.A. in psychology from Columbia University.

In his position at Carolina, Hoolahan's chief responsibility is to supervise strength development programs for Tar Heel varsity intercollegiate teams. He is beginning his second year on the job.

Before returning to Carolina, Paul had been working as the supervisor of the Aquatics Division of Nassau County Recreation and Parks on Long Island. Simultaneously, he had served as a football coach and director of physical development at St. Francis Preparatory School.

Hoolahan is a bachelor.

Jerry Sain

Academic Counselor

Jerry Sain, former star Tar Heel offensive tackle, is the new academic counselor at the University.

Sain replaced Eddie Williamson last spring. Williamson resigned to accept a football coaching job at Furman University.

As academic counselor, Sain will keep tabs on the classroom progress of the Tar Heel players and will counsel them in all phases of their academic work.

A native of Lincolnton, N.C., Sain played on Carolina teams which went to bowl games in 1970, 1971 and 1972. He was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in both his junior and senior years. He was honorable mention All-America in 1972.

Before returning to Carolina, Jerry had been working with exceptional students at Concord High School. He was also assistant football coach and head wrestling coach there.

Sain is married to the former Bobbie Beam.

John Lacey/Head Trainer

John Lacey, who was recently named to the Helms Sports Hall of Fame, heads an outstanding staff of athletic trainers at the University of North Carolina.

Lacey, beginning his 22nd year in Chapel Hill, will once again be the head trainer for Carolina's football and basketball teams. He will work directly with Dr. Joseph DeWalt and Dr. Robert Lindsay, who head Carolina's outstanding Division of Sports Medicine.

Throughout his illustrious career, Lacey has been associated with championship teams and great athletes. He has worked with nine football bowl teams, six of them at Carolina.

One of his greatest honors came in 1972 when he was selected head trainer of the United States delegation to the Olympic Games in Munich. It was Lacey's second Olympic experience. He had served as trainer of the U.S. basketball team in the 1964 Games at Tokyo.

Another honor came last spring when he was named to the athletic trainers' section of the Citizen Savings (Helms) Hall of Fame.

Lacey came to Carolina in 1956 from Maryland when the late Sunny Jim Tatum was named the Tar Heel football coach. While at Maryland, Lacey served three bowl teams and worked with squads which won national championships in football and lacrosse.

At Carolina, Lacey went to the 1963 Gator Bowl with the Tar Heels and has recently worked with the five bowl teams of Bill Dooley.

He was also trainer of the 1957 Carolina basketball team which swept the national championship and the 1971 team which won the National Invitation Tournament.

His background also includes a stir[illegible] as trainer with three professional football teams—the Chicago Rockets, New York Yankees and Baltimore Colts.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., Lacey studied at the Yale University Department of Physical Therapy and at the Tilton School in Tilton, N.H.

Lacey is married to the former Barbara Koch of Wallingford.

Outlook

If Kentucky can rebuild its offensive line, the Wildcats should again have one of the best football teams in the nation. Three interior line starters who helped take the Wildcats to the Peach Bowl last season are gone. Kentucky does return some explosive backfield performers, however, in quarterback Derrick Ramsey, fullback Rod Stewart and running backs Chris Hill and Randy Brooks. Stewart was the MVP in the Peach Bowl with three touchdowns. Defense, however, should be the Wildcat strong point. Ten starters return, including star linebackers Jim Kovach and Mike Martin. Other key defenders include end Art Still, noseguard Jerry Blanton and cornerback Mike Siganos.

Outlook

With 32 returning lettermen, Richmond should be an improved football team in 1977. The strength of this Spider team should be defense. Richmond returns eight defensive starters from last year. Heading the defense are free safety Jeff Nixon, a third-team All-America in 1976, and linebacker Orlandus Branch, who led the team in tackle last season. Offensively, the Spiders' main problem is at end. The backfield has experience and depth and the line should again be a good one. Top offensive performers figure to be quarterbacks Dave Taylor and Larry Shaw, running backs Buster Jackson and Demetri Kornegay and guard Lou Bonato.

Outlook

The major task for Northwestern coach John Pont in 1977 will be to find a replacement for graduated standout quarterback Randy Dean. The new field general is likely to emerge from a pair of juniors, Scott Stranski or Steve Breitbeil. Tailback Pat Geegan will return to provide the big punch for the Wildcat running game behind a formidable offensive line, including tight end Dan Cleary, tackle Tony Ardizzone and center Greg Soderberg. Wide receivers Mark Bailey and Todd Sheets, with 40 receptions between them in 1976, rank with any Big Ten receiving corps. There is no question that the Wildcat defensive unit will center around senior linebacker Paul Maly. A bonafide candidate for all-league honors, Maly led the Northwestern team in tackles last year from his middle guard position, before being switched to linebacker for the final two games. Senior tackle Marty Szostak, a three-year starter, and safety Malcolm Hunter, the team's 1976 leader with five pass interceptions, will provide Maly with ample defensive help.

1976 OVERALL RECORD: 10-2-0
1976 CONFERENCE RECORD: 7-1-0

Outlook

The Raiders should be especially strong offensively this season because of overall experience and leadership of quarterback Rodney Allison. Defensively the secondary and defensive line appear solid. Last year's team was predominately a junior club and all players performed up to their full abilities. There is not expected to be any change in the enthusiasm and dedication during the 1977 season. Weakness on the 1977 club centers around the loss of last season's punter and both kicking specialists and the replacements have no varsity experience. Depth is also a major weakness and a primary goal of spring training was to develop the younger players for reserve roles. Because of returning quarterback Rodney Allison, a strong offensive line and an improved defense, Texas Tech will probably be rated among the top three teams in the Southwest Conference this year. Coach Steve Sloan's teams are known for their offensive fireworks and 1977 is expected to be no exception.

Outlook

The Deacs fielded one of the nation's most improved football teams last year and the growth of the program is expected to continue in 1977. The star of the Wake show will be soph running back James McDougald, the ACC rookie-of-the-year in 1976 when he ran for over 1,000 yards. He will be operating behind a veteran offensive line led by center Larry Tearry and tackle Jackie Robinson. Mike McGlamry returns at quarterback and his top target should again be tight end Steve Young. All-ACC linebacker Don Cervi will anchor a young defense. The secondary, minus All-America safety Bill Armstrong, features cornerback James Royster.

Outlook

With the return of 43 lettermen, including running back Ted Brown and defensive back Ralph Stringer—both all-conference performers—the Wolfpack figures to be considerably stronger than last year's 3-7-1 club. Other talented players who should have standout seasons include split end Elijah Marshall, guard Ed Callaway, quarterback Johnny Evans and fullback Billy Ray Vickers of the offensive unit. Defensively, big Bubba Green at tackle, A. W. Jenkins at middle guard, Richard Carter at cornerback and the lineback tandem of Kyle Wescoe and Bill Cowher are expected to lead the way. Coach Bo Rein's major concern going into the season will be the offensive line, where graduation claimed such players as all-ACC Mike Fagan at tackle, tight end Ricky Knowles, 2-year tackle starter Bill Druschel and starting guard Larry Shavis.

1976 OVERALL RECORD: 6-5-0

Outlook

South Carolina finished 6-5 last season and this was the first time in nearly a decade that the Gamecocks had produced back-to-back winning seasons. Quarterback Ron Bass returns to direct Jim Carlen's triple option attack and the senior signal-caller will be a key figure. Bass played injured a year ago and in the shadow of All-American Jeff Grantz. If he is healthy this fall, Carolina's offense (with seven other starters returning) could be consistent enough. Split end Philip Logan is a primary target for Bass and a dangerous game breaker. The defense improved greatly from 1975 (253.6 yards allowed per game) and six starters return to this unit. Leading tackler linebacker David Prezioso, defensive backs Rick Sanford and Lance Garrett and def. end Scott Blackman are the top defensive players.

Outlook

Maryland returns 37 lettermen from last year's team which went 11-0 enroute to the Cotton Bowl. Only four lettermen are missing from last year's defense which ranked second nationally in total defense. Linebacker Brad Carr and lineman Larry Seder, both All-ACC in 1976, anchor the defense. With Ernie Salley moving from guard to tackle, Terp Coach Jerry Claiborne feels his defense could be even better this season. All-ACC quarterback Mark Manges will guide a potent offense that features three outstanding tailbacks —Steve Atkins, Alvin "Preacher" Maddox and George Scott. Four of the five starting interior linemen are gone on offense, but the Terps have a letterman available at all but one of those positions.

New Clemson Coach Charley Pell has 17 returning starters around whom he will build his first Tiger team. Offensively, Pell has scrapped the veer and switched to the I-formation. The Clemson attack will center around quarterback Steve Fuller and a talented group of receivers, led by Jerry Butler. The offensive line, headed by Joe Bostic, appears solid. The Tigers' 50 defense features linebacker Randy Scott and end Jonathan Brooks. With eight returning players who have been starters at one time or another, the front five looks especially outstanding. The kicking game should be greatly improved over last year. Biggest problem for the Tigers could be a lack of dept at certain positions.

Outlook

Virginia will continue to improve under second year coach Dick Bestwick. He will have to revamp his offense which loses eight starters. Defensively, the Cavaliers return the entire unit with the exception of standout tackle Mike Ozdowski. Bestwick's number one problem spot is at quarterback and since no one player emerged dominant from spring drills he will be taking a long look at the four incoming first year players. Depth continues to be an overall problem with the exception of the secondary which should be one of the strongest in the conference. With the addition of Texas, West Virginia, and Syracuse plus ACC foes N. C. State and Clemson the schedule is much tougher.

Outlook

Building around one of college football's great young quarterbacks, Mike Dunn, the Blue Devils hope to be improved in 1977. The offense which generated 900 yards in the final two games of 1976 should be a definite strength, particularly the offensive line. Defensively, the Blue Devils will rely on a deep and talented corps of linebackers led by sophomore All-ACC selection Carl McGee. The defensive line will be small, but quick, and the secondary has six lettermen returning, including two starters. The kicking game will be in the capable hands of Scott Wolcott, who was impressive all spring.

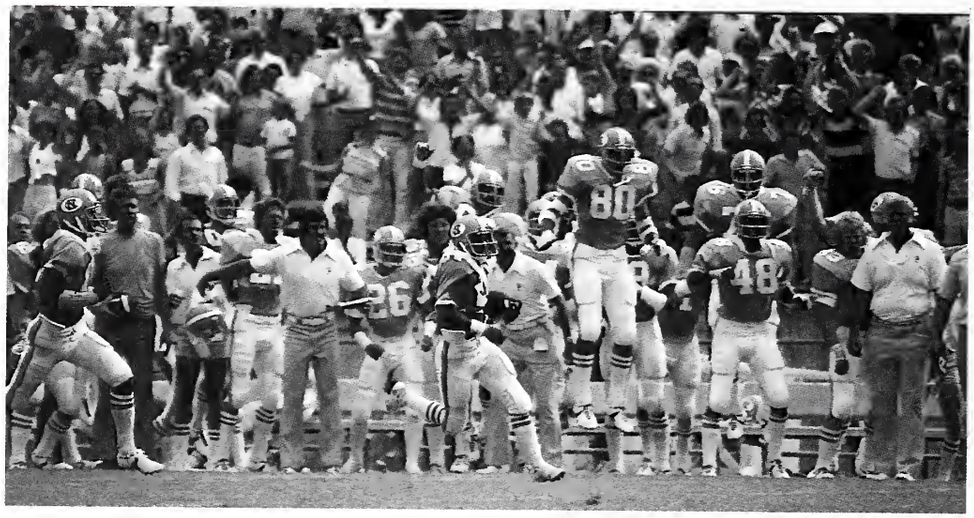
Tar Heel Nicknames



From Choo Choo Justice to Goo Goo Gantt to Boom Boom Betterson, Carolina football players have always had colorful nicknames. This year's Tar Heel team is certainly no exception.

Coining nicknames is an ancient pastime for athletes, probably dating back to the first time a 135-pound halfback showed up for practice and immediately became Runt.

Carolina's past is filled with players who were better known by their nicknames than their given ones. In addition to Justice, Gantt and Betterson, there have been Monk McDonald, Rabbit Bonner, Icky Garrett, Rip Hawkins, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Sweet Jim Lalanne and many others.

Today's nicknames run along the same lines at Carolina. Many are derivations of last names, some match physical appearance and others reflect personality. A few don't make any sense at all, but stick anyway. Some of the nicknames were given by players, while coaches came up with others.

Here are some of the nicknames of the current Tar Heel players:

Middle guard Dave Simmons is Lollipop Man since that is his CB handle.

Billy Johnson is Billy The Horse, a name he's had since high school.

Tight end Brooks Williams is Snatch because of his great pass-catching ability. The 6-4 Williams is also known as Stalker.

Defensive end Stan Lancaster is known as Redbird because of the color of his hair.

Quarterback Clyde Christensen is called Pineapple since he's the only player from the West Coast.

Speedy Mel Collins is Rocket Man.

Jim Andrews is Radar, although no one is exactly sure why.

Cornerback Bobby Cale is Butterbean or Bobby Love because he's a sweet kid.

Linebacker Bobby Gay is known as Doughboy because he looks like the Pillsbury Doughboy.

Delbert Powell is Pooh-Pooh because he's a small Boom Boom Betterson. Delbert is also called Halloween by some players because he's a trickster.

Mike Salzano is Sal, Carl Hackley is Hack and Phil Ragazzo is Rags.

Cornerback Francis Winters is called Iggy since his middle name is Ignatious.

T.K. McDaniels is called Tommy The Pinball Wizard because he is a look-alike for Roger Daltrey, who starred in the movie, "Tommy." T. K. is also known as Poodles since he has hair like a french poodle.

Middle guard Tony Mills is Bull and center Scott Davison is Bear because they are so big.

Linebacker Mike Finn, quite naturally, is either Mickey or Huck.

Defensive tackle Bill Span is Crazy Horse.

Tailback Terence Burrell is either Bubba or Tee.

Defensive tackle Rod Broadway is Funky, as in the dance and offensive tackle Steve Junkmann is Junky.

Defensive tackle Dee Hardison is Peanut and fullback Bob Loomis is Bobo.

Safety Alan Caldwell is either AC or Big Bird.

Defensive back Jay Faulkner is Little Bird because he's Caldwell's protege.

Split end Walker Lee is Easy Rider becaue he likes motorcycles.

Defensive tackle Ulyesses Rhames usually goes by the name Bunn, but is also known as Honey Bee and Bundini.

Quarterback P. J. Gay, like O. J. Simpson, is called Juice. Unfortunately, Gay is Prune Juice. P. J. is also called Peaches.

Punter Johnny Elam is Dean because he coached an intramural basketball team last winter. Johnny is also known as Train.

Wingbacks Wayne Tucker and Billy Mabry are Tuck and Mabes, respectively.

Cornerback Ricky Barden is Ricky B and fullback Van Lippencott is Lippy.

Tackle Billy Dunn has numerous nicknames, including Hollyrock, Laps, Abdul and Shrimps.

Placekicker Tom Biddle is Tonto, but the team does not have a masked punter who rides a white horse.

Defensive end Harry Stanback is Cornbread.

And the Carolina coaches?

Well, the players have given them nicknames, too. But, it is best they remain known only to the Tar Heels themselves.

Carolina's Bowl History

When Carolina played Kentucky in the Peach Bowl last December, it marked the ninth bowl appearance for the Tar Heels.

Carolina's post-season trips have been to the Sugar Bowl in 1947 and 1949, the Cotton Bowl in 1950, The Gator Bowl in 1963 and 1971, the Peach Bowl in 1970 and 1976 and the Sun Bowl in 1972 and 1974.

The Tar Heels' bowl history started in the late Forties when Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice was running wild from the single wing. Carolina went to bowls three times during the Justice Era, but lost all three.

Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched Carolina against Georgia. The Tar Heels led 7-0, but Georgia grabbed the momentum on a controversial play and won 20-10. The rhubarb concerned a lateral that set up the Bulldogs' first touchdown. All the Tar Heels claimed it was a forward lateral and the play should have been called back.

Carolina returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later and lost to Oklahoma, 14-6. Justice had a sensational day running and punting, however. Choo Choo was magnificent in the 1950 Cotton Bowl as well, but Rice won the game, 27-14.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance came in the 1963 Gator Bowl. Ken Willard was the big star as Carolina routed the Air Force Academy, 35-0.

Carolina has been to five bowl games in the last seven years under Bill Dooley. That amazing stretch started in the 1970 Peach Bowl. The Tar Heels dropped a wild 48-26 decision to unbeaten Arizona State in that game. All-America tailback Don McCauley had 143 yards rushing and three touchdowns for Carolina. But a second half snowstorm and an injury to quarterback Paul Miller helped the Sun Devils race to victory.

The 1971 Gator Bowl produced a bowl first—brothers opposing each other as coaches in bowl competition. It matched Vince Dooley of Georgia against Bill of Carolina. The game was a great defensive struggle in which the Bulldogs came from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina's most exciting bowl game was the 1972 Sun Bowl. The Tar Heels capped an 11-1 season by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. He fired a 62-yard scoring strike to Ted Leverenz to help Carolina to a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard scoring pass with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then added two more points when Ronnie Robinson dropped Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James (Boom Boom) Betterson had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Mississippi State won another thriller, 26-24. The Tar Heels put on a desperation drive in the game's closing moments, but were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 48-yard line.

Last season Carolina was beaten in the Peach Bowl, 21-0, by Kentucky. The Tar Heels, playing without the injured Voight, had trouble all day against a fine Wildcat defense.

Educational Foundation

Ernie Williamson

Carolina's man for all seasons is Ernie Williamson, the executive vice-president of the Educational Foundation.

Regardless of the time of year, Ernie is always on the move—speaking to Foundation members, talking to prospective members and following all of Carolina's athletic teams.

Williamson is a Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. The native of Crewe, Va. played one season of football here under Carl Snavely and was regarded as an outstanding tackle.

He was lured away to professional football and played with Los Angeles and Washington before a knee injury ended his career.

Ernie returned to Chapel Hill to finish work on his degrees and then went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. He was an assistant coach there for two years and head coach for three seasons.

He returned to Carolina in 1957 to accept his present position. At one time he also served as a recruiter for the football program.

He is married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va. They have a son, Wayne, and a daughter, Carole.

One of the most important organizations in the Carolina Athletic Department is the University's Educational Foundation.

It is the Educational Foundation which makes possible all athletic scholarships awarded by Carolina.

As the Tar Heel sports program has grown through the years, the Foundation has done likewise. It is the enthusiasm and generosity of Foundation members which allows Carolina to field its excellent athletic teams.

"Interest reaches a new peak every year," says Ernie Williamson, the Foundation's executive vice-president. "There are many reasons for this, but the most important has been our great success in all sports the last few years."

The Educational Foundation currently has over 2,500 members who finance a scholarship program that costs over $700,000 a year.

"Since its inauguration in 1938, the Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, for over 2,200 student-athletes," says Williamson. "The majority of these athletes are anxious to return contributions which would enable us to award scholarships to others."

Williamson has always contended that a donation to the Foundation is not specifically a donation to athletics. He says that the high caliber young athlete who is awarded a scholarship is a great representative of the University.

Williamson feels the overall bonus is in helping a worthy young student obtain a college education. Athletics come second.

Any donation to the Educational Foundation is welcome. However, membership in the Rams Club is restricted to those who contribute $100 or more.

Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program was started in 1968 and has been quite successful.

"We have life members of $10,000 and $25,000, endowed scholarships of $50,000 and have just recently enlisted 100 members who have purchased $50,000 scholarships through life insurance," says Williamson. "Several members have also indicated they have included the Foundation in their wills and bequests to enable continued success in the future."

Foundation members receive priority on seat locations in football and basketball. A special room on the south wing of Kenan Field House serves as a meeting place for Rams and their families. This area is open two hours before football games and provides a lounge and picnic facilities for those who come early.

"A Foundation membership is a badge of prestige and loyalty to the University," Williamson points out. "Many of our finest members did not attend Carolina, however. They just heard about our program and felt it was worthy."

It is important to point out that all donations to the Foundation are tax deductible.

ORIGIN AND INCORPORATION

Three loyal and athletic-minded University of North Carolina alumni met in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure at Raleigh in December of 1938 and organized the Educational Foundation, Inc.

The men were John Umstead, Jr. of Chapel Hill, Max Abernethy of Raleigh, and Benton Stacy of Reidsville.

A charter was drawn with these three men as the incorporators and submitted to the late O. Max Gardner, who had his law firm clear it with the Internal Revenue Department as a charitable organization. The charter was issued December 7, 1938.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Educational Foundation, Inc., is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability.

The Educational Foundation, Inc. operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessing and good will of all the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status similar to that of the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation, and other money-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

The full amount of all donations of Foundation members is used for scholarships and grants. The organization has no administrative expenses.
